1 DEAD; 15 HURT IN FIRE

HOTEL GUESTS LEAP OUT WINDOWS TO SAVE LIVES

Several Prominent People Seriously Injured in Escaping Death From Flames in Famous Old Caravansary.

TOPEKA, Kans., Jan. 14. -- The Copeland Hotel, Republican political headquarters in Kansas for thirty years, burned at 4 o'clock this morning. I. E. Lambert of Emporia, Kansas, is the only person missing of the 150 guests in the hotel. Several persons suffered broken legs and severe bruises due to jumping from upper floors, but no one was seriously hurt.

Mrs. W. Y. Morgan, wife of the editor of the Hutchinson News, and W. C. McMurray, a life insurance agent from Kansas City Kansas, were the most seriously injured, each suffering a broken ankle and many bruises. Few of the guests were able to save even their clothing.

Burned to Death

Lambert, who is one of the most prominent attorneys and politicians in the State, is believed to have been burned to death.

The injured include:

MRS. W. Y. MORGAN, wife of the editor of the Hutchinson News and formerly State printer, ankle broken.

W. C. McMURRAY, Kansas City, Kan.; life insurance agent, broken ankle and bruises.

THOMAS BENTON MURDOCK, Eldorado, Kansas, well known editor; slight.

A. W. SMITH, McPherson, Kansas; former Republican candidate for the governorship; ankle broken.

H. A. ROWLAND, McPherson; three ribs broken.

MRS. B. L. THOMPSON, Herrington; back injured.

REPRESENTATIVE S. C. WESCOTT, Cherokee county; back and ankle wrenched.

FIRE CHIEF WILMARTH, Topeka; head cut.

J. W. DAVIS, Greensburg; overcome by smoke.

$100,000 Loss

The hotel was a four story brick structure and owned by J. C. Gordon. It was totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance about $45,000.

The origin of the fire is thought to have been a defective electric light wire in the store room.

Exit Shut Off

The building was situated one block from the State Capitol and was one of the oldest hotels in Kansas. It had a roomy lobby and wide hallways and was plentifully supplied with fire escapes. The main stairway, however, was built around the elevator and the flames shooting up the shaft soon shut off this means of escape.

The flames had gained great headway when discovered and when the fire apparatus arrived the rear stairway had been cut off as a means of escape.

Henry Wells, the porter, was the first to learn of the fire. A moment later William Jenkins, night watchman, and

Hains to Know His Fate Soon

FLUSHING, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Within twenty-four hours Thornton J. Hains probably will know whether he has been adjudged innocent or guilty of the charge of aiding his brother, Captain Peter C. Hains Jr., in the killing of William E. Annis.

Justice Crane told Prosecutor Darrin this morning that he wanted to give the case to the jury some time today. Thornton Hains expressed himself as confident of his acquittal, though his face plainly showed that he was struggling with torturing fear.

Screams Despite Threat to Kill

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14. -- Within a few doors of her home last evening, shortly after 7 o'clock, Katherine Everding, aged eighteen years, of 81 Mansfield street, was held up at the point of a revolver in the hand of a masked highwayman.

"Utter a sound and I'll kill you," hissed the thug, but regardless of the threat to kill, the girl called for assistance.

A number of passersby hurried to the scene and the thief took flight, pursued by the citizens. Mounted Policeman R. H. Ritter galloped to the scene and took part in the chase, but the robber escaped.

THE COUNTESS OF GRANARD,
Who was Miss Beatrice Mills.

Beatrice Mills Becomes Countess of Granard

NEW YORK, Jan. 14. -- The marriage this afternoon of the Earl of Granard and Beatrice Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills and niece of Ambassador Reid, has been awaited as one of the season's social events of importance. The bride is a granddaughter of D. O. Mills, the financier and philanthropist. The Earl of Granard is master of horse to King Edward and the head of the royal equerries which confers upon him the right to a seat in the King's carriage on state occasions.

Gowned in White

A temporary altar was erected in the Louis XV room in the Mills residence in Sixty-ninth street for the marriage ceremony, which was performed by Bishop Thomas J. Cusack of St. Stephens Roman Catholic Church. The bride wore a white satin empire gown, with a veil fastened with orange blossoms and carried a prayer book instead of a bouquet. She was attended by Miss Alice Astor, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John Jacob Astor; Miss Grace Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt; Miss Edith Taylor and Miss Beatrice Bishop. She was given away by her father. Lord Granard's brother, the Honorable Donald Forbes, was best man. The guests numbered about 250.

$100,000 Check

The gifts to the bride included a check from her father for $100,000 to be supplemented later on, it is said, by a London town house from her grandfather, D. O. Mills. Her mother gave her a tiara of pearls and diamonds with tips of pear-shaped pearls and diamonds. The bridegroom's gift to her were a collar, tiara and corsage ornaments of diamonds, but of these she has seen only the photographs, the originals remaining in London to greet her when she arrives there. Numerous other gifts of diamonds and precious stones and a great quantity of silver were showered upon her, the total value of her wedding presents said to reach a total value of half a million dollars.

The Earl and Countess will spend a few weeks at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills, at Staatsburg-on-the-Hudson, before their departure for England on February 20.

WIFE OF DIXON, A JUROR, VISITED BY MAN WHO TALKED ABOUT RUEF CASE

Incident Which Aroused a Sensation Did Not Seem to Cause a Ripple in Ranks of the Prosecution---One Talesman Secured as Juror Out of First Venire.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.--There was a sensation sprung in the Calhoun trial in Judge Lawlor's court room this morning just after the case was called when Juror Joseph Dixon, the first man to be chosen on the jury to try the charge against the railway magnate, informed the court that some unknown person had been in conversation with his wife about the graft cases since he had been impaneled to serve as a juror.

The statement electrified the attorneys, who were busy arranging their papers on the desks before them, preliminary to taking up the siege of the long day of interrogating talesmen. It had been announced quietly by the judge after Dixon had given the information to his honor in private, and when it spread to the court room there was a general buzz of excitement that evidenced the satisfaction of the crowd that had braved the storm and filled the lobby in the Carpenters' Hall court room.

First Real Sensation in the Case

The curious who had been expecting something to happen in the great case had their first taste of the sensational. Nothing could have been more productive to the quickening of the pulse in a room full of people who, though patiently bearing the monotony of the painfully slow proceedings, were really quivering with the tenseness of expectation of just what happened. The real life had been injected into the trial. The blood had quickened. Dixon had told what everyone had contended--that neither side, defense nor prosecution--will overlook a single little detail.

The first one to subside save, of course, Judge Lawlor, was Assistant District Attorney O'Gara. It is true that O'Gara seldom gets excited at anything save Attorney A. A. Moore's polished sarcasm, but the effect of Dixon's rather significant and highly important statement seemed to wear off almost too speedily.

Strange Nonchalance of Prosecution

Mr. O'Gara, representing District Attorney Langdon, compatriot of Special Prosecutor Heney, the man who says that this trial must be conducted fairly and who informs the court ever so often that the whole system of American justice cries out against any attempt that might be made by the defense to influence the minds of prospective jurors, even in the interrogation of talesmen, under the close observation of the court, was not even slightly perturbed when Dixon told of the evident attempt of somebody representing somebody of either one side or the other in the Calhoun case, to sound the feelings of a man who might become a juror in the Calhoun trial.

Inclined to Ignore the Matter

O'Gara even passed over the matter lightly. Attorney Stanley Moore, representing the defendant, wanted to know more about the mysterious visitor at the Dixon home, but O'Gara didn't think it was important. He didn't say what he thought. He didn't even ask his impression. So far as his attitude toward the situation that had been presented was concerned, he might not have been impressed. At any rate he brought the Dixon incident to a close by ignoring it.

It was just after Dixon had answered to his name when it had been called by Clerk Welch that he stepped to the bench where the judge sat, and whispered into the official ear. It was only a few words that he spoke, and then he returned to his seat in the jury box.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.--Joseph Dixon, a salesman for Marks Brothers, residing at 3070 California street, is the first juror passed for the famous trial of Patrick Calhoun, which is exciting the interest of the entire country.

Killed in Vain Effort to Prevent Train Wreck

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—A flagman was killed, two passengers fatally injured and several persons were hurt in the Chicago & Northwestern yards here today when section 2 of the China and Japan express from San Francisco crashed into the rear of section No. 1.

The train was fifteen hours late into Omaha last night and was split into two sections. Fog is said to have contributed to the accident.

The flagman, who has not been identified, lost his life in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the wreck. His almost unrecognizable body was dug from beneath the wreckage. He stood on the rear platform of the first section, frantically endeavoring to signal the engineer of the on-coming train. Engineer Virge and Fireman Johnson declared that the fog shut out all view of the track ahead until too late. Windows were shattered in the first two cars of the second section and a number of passengers were cut by flying glass.

ONE MAN'S CARELESSNESS CAUSES DEATH OF 2 AND LOSS OF $1,000,000

VANCOUVER, B. C. Jan. 14.—Two lives were lost and silk valued at $1,000,000 destroyed as the result of the alleged carelessness of a switchman who left the switch points open and ditched a train on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. The accident occurred several miles east of Swift Current. Fireman King and Brakeman Porter were killed and Engineer Degon seriously injured. Four cars of silk were destroyed. The material was being shipped in bond to New York merchants and had come from the Orient via Vancouver.

RELIEF COMMITTEE STANDS PAT AND TELLS HOW THE FUNDS WERE SPENT

Report of Alleged Crooked Dealings Denied; Bare Facts Are Placed Before the Public.

The finance committee, who were in charge of the Relief Committee funds, from April 12, 1907, until the close of business today, are greatly aggrieved over statements made in San Francisco papers that there was a shortage in the fund. Among the other members of this committee is Mayor Mott.

The report which follows tells the whole story of where and how the funds were collected and expended, and in its way is a clear vindication of the well-known and reputable citizens who composed the committee.

The members of the finance committee are: James P. Taylor, chairman; Frank Mott, Sol Kahn, A. Jonas, A. J. Snyder, Dr. J. R. Fearn, the Rev. E. E. Baker, Charles W. BeeBe, H. G. Morrow, Theodore Gier and James P. Edoff.

They met today, the only absentees being H. G. Morrow and Col. Theodore Gier.

Outsiders Refuted

The report is also a denial of certain statements that have been made by persons who were in connection with the committee, but who failed to come to the scratch at the proper time and make known what they really did know about the matter. The following is the official statement of the committee made today. It includes a report also showing exactly the amount of funds received and where and how they were expended:

Committee's Report

The finance committee of the Oakland relief committee have in their possession the following:

Resolved, that on July 1, 1906, the finance committee of this committee, through the executive committee, consisting of James P. Taylor, James P. Edoff, Sol Kahn and A. J. Snyder, is hereby authorized to make full settlement with the San Francisco finance committee and to pay to said San Francisco finance committee any surplus remaining in the San Francisco fund of $10,000.

Second—Out of the surplus money remaining in the Oakland relief fund, to put aside $15,000 to be known as the reserve fund, which reserve fund is to be used to take care of belated claims and cover the period legally known as the statute of limitations.

Third—And to recommend to this executive committee what course should be followed regarding any further surplus in the Oakland relief fund on or before August 1, 1906, including what may be left in the reserve fund of $15,000.

Fourth—Any salvage not heretofore provided for, to be left to the finance committee, to be disposed of as they, in their best judgment, see fit.

Walker's Certificate

Mr. Chas. W. Beebe Auditor of the Finance Committee:

Dear Sir—I hereby certify that at a meeting of the executive committee of the Oakland relief committee, held June 25, 1906, the above resolution was unanimously adopted, and I was instructed to transmit to you a certified copy of the same. Respectfully yours,

WILBER WALKER.

Secretary Oakland Relief Committee.

On the 24th day of August, 1906, the finance committee of the Oakland relief committee requested the executive committee of the Oakland relief committee to ratify and approve and confirm all the acts of the finance committee as reported in their minutes, which the executive committee did, and on or about the same date a meeting was called, which meeting was held in the Merchants' exchange rooms in the Central Bank building, when the following resolution was passed.

Resolved, That the finance committee be empowered to continue its present work of rehabilitation along the lines it is now working upon, reporting from time to time to the executive committee.

Await Final Audit

The finance committee has continued its work and has made two reports to the executive committee, one called the souvenir report, and one under date of April 13, 1907. The finance committee has not yet closed up its business, but when it does it will make a final report. The entire work of rehabilitation has fallen on the shoulders of the finance committee of the Oakland relief committee, and the finance committee has been and is working along the lines of this resolution, and has considered ever since this resolution was passed that they were the sole custodians and best judges of how the funds of the relief should be disposed.

Under date of August 30, 1906, the finance committee of the Oakland relief committee received a letter from Wilbor Walker, secretary of the executive committee of the Oakland relief committee, acknowledging the receipt and adoption of the report of the finance committee of the Oakland relief committee at a meeting of the executive committee of the Oakland relief committee, held August 27, 1906, and the adoption of the recommendations contained therein.

FINANCE COMMITTEE,
Oakland Relief Committee.

There is a general disposition on the part of all the members of the relief committee to court a most rigid investigation.

A statement prepared by James P. Edoff and Charles W. Beebe, explaining the expenditures from the relief fund, follows:

Meaning of Words

The words "confidential rehabilitation" mean that this money was given to various men and men to assist them to get on their feet. The names of these men and women, in the opinion of the committee, should not be divulged, as many persons that received the relief under this heading are now residents of Oakland and are making a struggle for existence, and it is not fair to them that their names should be mentioned, but the committee have the names and the vouchers in their possession.

The money given to the West Oakland Home was given to assist them after the failure of the California Bank, their moneys all being tied up in that failure, and their having a great many orphan children to take care of. So it was necessary for their existence during the hard and strenuous times during the panic that they should receive this assistance.

Charity the Object

The money given to the Associated Charities was given, first: because it was the original intention of the committee to give to the Associated Charities $40,000 for specific purposes; but the committee thought best to first give $35,000, and on September 5, 1907, gave the additional $5000, making $1000. The other money charged up to the Associated Charities was given to them for the same reason that the money was given to the West Oakland Home, their money also being tied up in the California Bank.

The charges to C. R. Lukens were for an automobile service rendered to Ex-Governor George C. Pardee, when as Governor he had his headquarters in the city of Oakland immediately after the earthquake and fire, and the vouchers are approved by Ex-Governor Pardee.

What Members Say

Statements from members of the finance committee are as follows:

MAYOR FRANK K. MOTT—"The money expended from the relief fund was so done by the vote of the board. As I understand it, the money was to be spent for charitable work. The accounts were all handled in good shape. Everything was handled very carefully."

SOL KAHN—"Everything was O. K. so far as I know. The money was spent for charity."

DR. JOHN FEARN—"All the money expended from the found was O. K.'d by the committee in session. The money was; used for charity."

A. J. SNYDER—"There is absolutely nothing to this deficiency story. The accounts are O. K. and the money expended was voted by the finance committee for charity."

A. JONAS—"There is no deficiency. All the relief money is accounted for. The accounts are correct."

Crockers Interested In the Nevada Mines

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—W. C. Ralston, United States Sub-Treasurer of this city, a member of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board, who was recently elected treasurer of the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Co., the biggest gold mining corporation of Nevada, states that the Crockers of this city have an immense holding in that corporation.

While it has been rumored that the Crocker interests have obtained control of a big merger at Goldfield, Ralston intimates that while their holding is large it probably is not sufficient to give them control.

Automobile Used by Men Robbing Saloon

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—A bold burglary, evidently committed by robbers who used an automobile, was perpetrated in the Mission district at an early hour this morning, in the saloon of William Schmittenhous, at Eighteenth and Bryant streets. The intruders secured a quantity of liquors and cigars and $13 in cash. A jimmy and a pair of auto goggles were found on the floor, and the fact that neighbors heard an automobile at the corner about 3 a. m., makes it evident that a machine was used.

From all accounts, every one present at tonight's affair will take this opportunity to wear their handsomest gowns and display their most magnificent jewels. Frank K. Mott Married? 'No Chance,' Says the Mayor

A social sensation was sprung by the issuance of the "Blue Book" two days ago, because it stated that Mayor Frank K. Mott was married.

The announcement ran thus: "Mott, M., and Mrs. Frank K. Mott, 1066 Jackson street."

Now for four years Mayor Mott has been on the "eligible" list and many a fond mamma has been cherishing plans. Mayor Mott as a bachelor is wonderfully interesting to both the younger social set and to their elders. But Mayor Mott married would be uninteresting, and scheming mothers and demure debutantes would cast their eyes in other directions. So when the announcement came that there was a Mrs. Frank K. Mott it was a staggering surprise in some quarters and many were the telephone calls received by the chief executive of the city.

Congratulated by Friends

Mayor Mott's political cronies congratulated him, but he bashfully denied that there was any truth in the rumor. He also gave out the information that there would not be a Mrs. Mott probably for a long time. He intimated that the affairs of the city were so engrossing that his thoughts would not lightly turn to spring and love, but might turn to spring and politics.

Too Busy Says the Mayor

"I do not understand how there came to be a blunder of that kind," said Mayor Mott. "I am not married, and there is no Mrs. Mott, and as far as I know there does not seem to be much chance of there being one. The city's business is taking up too much of my time for me to be verifying statements issued by the Blue Book."

BERKELEY POLICE SCOUR CANYON TO FIND HALF NUDE WILD MAN

BERKELEY, Jan. 14. Wandering half nude in the fashionable district near the Claremont Hotel, a crazy man has been terrifying the women and children for the last two days, and is now the object of a man hunt in the canyon behind the hotel, on the part of the Berkeley police.

The man was last seen this morning when he attempted to enter the grocery store of Day & Williams, at the corner of College and Claremont. He was barefoot and clad only in his under garments. An attempt was made to capture him, but failed, as he fled up the street and into the grove of trees bordering College avenue. Previous to that, he had alarmed the family of J. M. Hind by appearing at 3 o'clock in the morning and throwing small stones in at the window.

Officer Campbell reports that two nights ago he discovered a man about midnight lurking behind the residence of Whitley Paloche.

When the fire was discovered shortly before 2 o'clock everyone in the hospital was asleep except one sister, the night nurses and some of the restless patients. The loss was $15,000, partly covered by insurance. The blaze originated from wood which had been placed in a stove in the kitchen to dry.

NILES, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Ada Thompson Leo, wife of a wealthy real estate broker of Los Angeles, who disappeared from her husband's home more than a week ago, has been traced to this place and again all clues to her whereabouts have been lost.

Mrs. H. E. Thompson, a sister of the missing girl wife, today notified Leo that his wife came to her after leaving him. Mrs. Thompson says she appeared despondent and left suddenly on Friday without informing her of her intention. Great fears are entertained for her safety.

Leo, who is a scion of a wealthy Austrian family, came to this country a few years ago to live in a democratic community. He married Miss Ada Thompson, a year ago. Despite his democratic theories, he established patrician rules to govern his home, and when his American wife chafed under them, he confesses he scolded her.

On January 3, he says, he reproved her for disregarding one of his rules, and on January 6 he discovered she had gone away without leaving him any word. Leo is almost mad from remorse and expresses the fear that his runaway wife has met some horrible fate. Mrs. Leo had considerable money and wore jewelry valued at $600 when last seen.

CURES A COUGH OR COLD

The following formula is a never failing remedy for coughs or colds.

Two ounces of glycerine, one-half ounce of Concentrated pine compound, one-half pint good whiskey; mix and shake thoroughly each time and use in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours.

This will cure any cough that is curable or break up an acute cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients all can be gotten at any drug store.

Don't get anything but the "Concentrated" pine, as it is a special pine product refined for medical purposes and comes only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in a tin screw-top case, which is air-tight to preserve the fluid in its full strength.

OREGON SENATORIAL FIGHT IS IN THE CRUX OF A CRISIS

Chamberlain Forces Sanguine of Victory

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 14.—The con- troversy over the United States na- torship and election of a man to su eed Senator Charles W. Fulton, is dev op- ing into a fight etween the Chamb 'in men and the "antis," who wish t see Fulton or some other man sent to W ash- ington instead of the "people's ch ce," George E. Chamberlain, now Gov nor of this state.

National Managers on Dec

That Frank Hitchcock, chairm of the National Re publican Committ is taking a hand in the fight is ind ated by the fact that Ralph Williams, R ublican national committeeman, is he as also is Quincy McHarg, of Chicago said to be the personal representativ of Hitchcock in the fight to defeat C am- berlain. This is not McHarg's first visit to Oregon. Last fall he spent ome time here endeavoring to harm nize discordant elements within the R publi- can party.

Dark Horse May Run

That the ant Chamberlain forc will map out a line of campaign between now and next Tuesday, when the first ballot in the senatorial contest is to be taken, is certain. It is expected that Williams, McHarg and others interested will get together in this city and develop some scheme in an attempt to weaken the "Statement Number 1" forces. While it is generally believed that Fulton is the man the "antis" want returned to the Senate it is understood that if a winning fight cannot be made with Fulton as the candidate, some other name will be put forward.

Chamberlain Forces Stand Pat

The Chamberlain forces show no signs of weakening. The speaker of the House, a Republican known to be a friend of Fulton in most things, has not been won over to the side of the "antis," and, furthermore, has taken no part in the fight since the legislature convened. The "antis" assert, however, that when the crucial moment comes McArthur will be found "doing his part."

DUCK HUNTERS LOST IN STORM FOUND ON SHAG ROCK BY POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 4.— Drenched to the skin and a most frozen stiff as a result of their n ht's exposure to the elements, Harry oble of 1437 Seventeenth avenue, S uth, an employe of the Western Suga Re- finery and Charles Smith, a boy om- panion, who were lost yesterday ter- noon in the storm which raged o the bay, were discovered on Shag ock this morning, huddled beneath heir small skiff by members of the cre v of the police launch patrol.

Found Half Unconscious

The two boys were found sh ortly after 9 o'clock, after the patrol boat had wandered about the bay in the storm for over an hour. Conside able difficulty was experienced by me bers of the crew in reaching near en ugh to Shag Rock to effect a landing. The waves rolled high and it app ared that the small launch would be ver- turned at any minute, and wh t at length they did land, they found both Doble and Smith half-uncon ious from their terrible experience. The lads were quickly bundled int the boat and a considerable amou of whisky poured down their throa be- fore signs of returning life wer vis- ible.

By the time the police boat re hed the mainland the condition of the two hunters was greatly improved, and they were able to go to their homes without treatment at a hospital. Doble stated this morning, when seen at his home, that he and his companion had started out yesterday afternoon on a duck hunting expedition in the south end of the bay. The storm came upon them suddenly, and rather than risk the chances of running for the shore, they landed on the small island off Hunter's Point. They had hoped that the storm would go down in a short time, but they found it only continued, and they were forced to spend the night on the small island.

ONE JUROR SECURED OUT OF THE FIRST VENIRE IN CALHOUN CASE

Heney Wrought to Rage Each Time Reference Is Made to Immunity Deals in the Trial

Judge Lawlor addressed a courtroom that was just settling itself for the morning session. No one was paying attention. They hadn't even taken particular notice of Dixon speaking to Judge Lawlor The Court spoke in low tones, so that the words were heard only at the attorneys' tables.

Defense Welcomed an Inquiry

"Mr. Dixon has called to the attention of the Court," began His Honor, "that some person spoke to his wife about the case yesterday, and the Court thinks there should be some inquiry."

The Court's remark was directed to Assistant District Attorney O'Gara.

"The defense welcomes an investigation," said Stanley Moore.

Then he began to question Dixon with the Court's permission.

"When was the conversation between your wife and the unknown man held, Mr. Dixon?" queried Moore.

"Yesterday morning, after I left home for the courtroom, and at my home, 2000 Steiner street," was the reply.

"Who was the fellow? Was he the young fellow with dark hair, curly, dark hair in the front, the young fellow who sat next to Mr. O'Gara on the first day of this trial?" was Moore's next question. "What did he want to know from Mrs. Dixon?"

Claimed to Be Real Estate Man

"Well, he first wanted to know if I had a lot to sell," the answer began. "Then he asked about my brothers, and about how they felt about the graft prosecution and the graft cases, and he asked for my opinion about Ruef. I though it was my duty to inform the Court."

"So do I," quickly agreed Stanley Moore.

"My wife told me that the man told her that he did think that Ruef would be convicted, but, in a sympathetic way, stated that they had. When Mrs. Dixon told me of this I immediately concluded that the fellow wasn't there to transact any business in real estate. He evidently wanted to get into the house or he wanted my wife to make some remark that would indicate to him my frame of mind. Of course, there may be nothing to it at all, but I thought it peculiar, and I wanted the Court to know about it."

And then, just as calmly as though the rather startling fact had not been adduced, O'Gara took up some further examination of Dixon as to his qualifications to serve as a juror. That ended the incident.

Chosen as Juror

Shortly afterward Dixon was chosen as a juror temporarily, according to the custom. He is a sleek, well-groomed man of about 37 years, with dark hair, a short, dark mustache, and, best of all, a kindly smile.

During his examination he answered every question in a straightforward, honest manner. He hasn't any prejudices one way or the other, or, rather, he says he hasn't. It would grieve him particularly to convict Calhoun, and the breach separating him as a salesman from the defendant as the king of finance doesn't affect him a bit. He is intelligent and well mannered. Dixon seems to be a man well suited for the very important duty he has to perform.

Hansen Last

The only other juror who remained of the first twelve that had been sworn was August Hansen, a printer. He had read a great deal about the case in the newspapers and was fairly conversant about the facts, or the alleged facts, in the graft cases. Yet before he was challenged and excused he made a remark in answer to a question that excluded the legal aspect of things and drove directly home at the moral issue involved in the case.

"I have always been in doubt," he said, "as to whether Ruef and the Supervisors demanded money of the United Railroads, or whether it was offered to them. To me there is a great difference beween the two."

That Let Heney Out

Heney didn't want Hansen after that, and Hansen went on his way.

Eleven more men were called into the box and there wasn't anything in the quiet, simple way that they took their seats that, in a moment or two of their coming, was to offer the situation for the first grand display of pyrotechnics from Special Prosecutor Francis J. Heney, who has been pyrotechnicking by way of recuperation in several cities in the East of late.

Heney has been three days without one real, little pyrotechnic. He has sputtered a few times, of course, but until this morning, when he shook his finger at Stanley Moore in the fervent "Man of the hour" style at his disposal, his voice had never even traveled beyond the entrance to the billiard hall outside the entrance to the building.

Outdid the Storm

This morning it went out and rang in combat to the storm that howled around the corner, and the thing that brought the melody of verbal fireworks to its highest pitch was Stanley Moore's gentlemanly smile and sympathy.

It's pretty certain that young Moore will treat Heney "fully" during the trial that is in progress.

Moore was trying to elicit from George F. Alberti, an insurance broker, something of his knowledge of the graft cases. As a matter of course, he asked Alberti whether he knew that Rudolph Spreckels had granted immunity to "Big Jim" Gallagher. That question lighted the fuse that set off the fireworks.

Heney was on his feet in an instant. He charged that Moore was endeavoring to influence the mind of the juror by insinuation that the so-called graft prosecution had entered into compact with the real criminals in order to accomplish the downfall of men higher up. That is what he meant, only in verbal pyrotechnic the English must be better and more closely guarded.

Heney's was, to be sure

Didn't Want Jurors Influenced But ---

He even described the insinuation that he was talking about as "dirty insinuation" which is Chesterfieldian English for Heney. The prosecution wanted to examine these jurors properly, that was all, and not improperly, vouchsafed Heney, and he didn't want to influence the jurors in any respect.

Then, just to prove what he said, he went on at length to say that he thought the defense would continue the proceedings by insinuation during the entire trial, which was perfectly proper for Mr. Heney to impress upon the minds of prospective jurors, and was what Heney evidently construed as a fair thing to do while he was charging someone else with unfairness.

Alberti was excused, and he took whatever impression he might have gained from the exhibition that had just ended away with him. He had a firm opinion about the case that he could never change.

Excuses That Let Out Three Talesmen

Uneventfully the next three talesmen were excused Otto F. Bauer was allowed to go because he was not on the assessment roll, and Charles Strycker, a grocer, who didn't seem to like Calhoun any too well, was excused because of a firmly fixed opinion. Bernard F. Hanlon, an insurance agent, also succumbed on account of his strong opinion.

Before noon, William J. Burns entered the courtroom, unostentatiously. He didn't wear the tan automobile ulster, hence there was no flutter.

Burns Came But Not in Overcoat

He was attired modestly, as is always the rule of his general apparel, but the star feature of his dress was missing. He should have had it on, however, in the light of things, because he came to court in an automobile The tan ulster was built for automobile usage But, then, there was a storm and the tan ulster will never be sacrificed to the indiscretion of Weather Prophet McAdie.

While the storm rages, the ulster will give way to a real overcoat—one of the blushing soft gray type with a velvet collar, that causes Burns to fall back upon his mustache for distinction in looks.

Calhoun is watching the trial with close interest Besides his attorneys, he is accompanied in court today only by Benjamin G. Maynard, his faithful cousin.

Calhoun Gives His Counsel Full Play

The defendant, himself an attorney, gives his counsel free reign and only infrequently suggests the course to young Moore or his father. If he is affected by the different turns in the tide of events during each day he does not manifest it. He shows only an interest and a clear understanding of the motives that impel counsel on either side. He never indicates a motion whether of satisfaction or disappointment His scrutiny of the jurors is close.

John P. Ames, receiving teller of the Hibernia Bank, was excused because of prejudice.

Heney continued to try the cause of the graft prosecution in questioning the jurors, using all of the involved hypothetical questions that he can concoct.

Whirled Into Space of Grand Fireworks

He worked himself into a furore, got into the throes of a question in which he told the entire history of how he trapped the supervisors, secured their testimony and brought about the indictments, in which he painted the picture of the opposition of the so-called higher-ups, wailed and pleaded and writhed up in a terroration some place distant to where he started, and no one knows where.

He was trying to find out from Frank O. Carleton, a bookkeeper of the Bank of California, his opinion of the granting of immunity contracts to the Board of Supervisors, when he stopped, for he really never finished. Moore addressed the court.

Want to Know Who Heney Represents

"Does your honor hold that Mr. Heney can justify the cause he represents by asking the question as he does, assuming to be the fact that which is not the fact, and seeking to tell the juror of his stand? If this is to go, and if he be allowed to act this way, we will expect the same and we will gleefully accept it. We will then go into the question of who Mr. Heney really represents here and who the men to his right (referring to Heney's bodyguard) represent. We will want to know all that."

Moore's Sarcasm Cuts Like a Knife

"Well, you won't go into that Mr. Moore," replied Heney "You won't put any witnesses on the stand and you won't put me to prove these things you are insinuating. You have had three chances to do it, and you never have done it. You won't put me on the stand to get that information from me."

"No, we won't need to," Moore came back, "we would much prefer to sit here and hear you talk and get the information that way."

A recess was taken until 12:30 o'clock in which Heney might catch his breath.

PERFECT ORDER KEPT IN COURT ROOM

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14. — The large audience which has assembled each day to listen to the hearing in the Calhoun trial has been kept in splendid order by the uniformed policemen, and not so much as a whisper of conversation has been allowed A solid bank of standing spectators have always been in attendance, but have been allowed a certain space in the court room, and no crowding has been permitted. None other than the court attaches is allowed to enter until a vacant place has been found by the officers, or until someone leaves. The jurors are kept together on one side, and Judge Lawlor has instructed the bailiff to allow no one to sit with them or talk to them during the proceedings.

FIRST VENIRE IS EXHAUSTED AT A.M. SESSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—"Mr. Dixon has reported to the Court that someone has been interviewing his wife. Let the parties inquire into it."

Thus spoke the Court at the opening of the Calhoun hearing this morning after a personal conversation with Talesman Joseph Dixon

Attorney Stanley Moore wanted to know who was to do the questioning, and Judge Lawlor indicated that the District Attorney might investigate it. Accordingly, Attorney O'Gara asked when the conversation took place.

"Between 10 and 11 a. m. yesterday," said the juror.

"Does the fact of that conversation having taken place influence your state of mind in any way?"

"No, sir."

Attorney Stanley Moore asked to be permitted to put some questions, and in reply thereto Dixon made a statement in part as follows:

Visited by Stranger Who Talked of Ruef

"He came to my house, 2000 Steiner street, and asked if Mr. Dixon lived there, and whether he had a lot to sell. He then went on to inquire about my opinion in the Ruef case; asked how I stood, and went right down the line. I think if those things happened, they ought to happen right here. Of course, there may not be anything to it."

"You acted properly, Mr. Dixon, in bringing it to the attention of the court," said Judge Lawlor, "and it is the duty of every juror to do so under similar circumstances."

"What sort of a looking man was he?" asked Moore.

"He was a dark, young fellow, with dark, curly hair."

"Do you remember a young fellow who was sitting beside Mr. O'Gara on the first day of the trial (referring to Detective R. C. Schindler)?"

"No, sir; I didn't notice."

Believed He Could Be an Impartial Juror

Attorney O'Gara then proceeded to inquire closely as to whether the juror's mind had been affected by the incident and whether he was sure he could give Calhoun a fair and impartial trial. He replied that he could, and would try his best. This seemed satisfactory to the District Attorney and Dixon was accepted, making the first juror temporarily passed for the trial. In lieu of the prosecution's unwillingness to take the juror, however, it seems probable that he will be subject to a peremptory challenge.

The report of Dixon regarding someone at his house was the first instance of what seems to be the work of Burns' detectives, which formed a prominent part in previous trials.

August Hansen, a printer, and the last man in the box, was next taken in hand by Attorney Stanley Moore, and he proceeded to inquire into his knowledge of the immunity contracts passed out to the ex-supervisors. After examining him as to his reading on the matter of Spreckels offering immunity, he was asked:

Mention of Spreckels Arouses O'Gara's Ire

"What, if any, opinion do you entertain as to whether or not that is the proper thing for Spreckels to have done?"

This query provoked a long argument between counsel. Assistant District Attorney O'Gara contended that too much time was being consumed before the point was reached as to whether a juror was biased or prejudiced against either side.

The court, however, indicated that he thought certain latitude should be granted counsel and that the immunity deal should be inquired into, and accordingly the juror answered that he had an opinion and did not think all of them should have had immunity.

"I don't believe immunity should have been given to James Gallagher," declared Hansen.

Talesman Not in Favor of Immunity

"Do you believe that complete or partial immunity should have been granted to Abraham Ruef?"

"No, sir."

It developed that the juror had known Ruef for ten years; was also acquainted with Attorney O'Gara, and had frequently met District Attorney Langdon. He felt friendly toward the latter in his aspiration for Governor His opinion during the car strike was to a great extent favorable to the company.

The juror had read considerable about the original confessions of the Supervisors, including the accounts of the statement of Dr. Charles Boxton, whom he knew quite well, in the Parkside realty deal, but had formed no opinion as to whether bribery was committed. He asserted that he had always been in doubt as to whether the Supervisors had demanded money or whether it had been offered to them.

"Nobody has been trying to interview your wife or anybody, have they?" asked Moore.

"No, sir," replied Hansen.

Hansen Is Political Friend of Langdon

"You have friendly feelings, have you not, toward Mr. Langdon?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you ever called upon him, or he at your house?"

"No, sir."

"Your acquaintance is merely a political one?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you think you could make a fair juror if selected, Mr. Hansen?"

"Yes, sir."

"Pass the juror," s ld the attorney.

Tired of Reading the Prosecution's Organ

Prosecutor Heney roceeded to examine him, and want d to know why he had shifted from the Call to the Chronicle three mon s ago, and he replied he was sick o reading it. This was at the time of th selection of the Ruef jury.

"Were you in favo of having Ruef turned loose withou a trial in the trolley matter?" ask Heney.

"No, sir."

"You got tired of r ding pages and pages of the proceed ngs?"

"Yes, sir."

"You thought that as bad stuff to feed to the people, did you?"

"No, sir; not that."

"You did not li the editorial policy. It did not co ncide with your views?"

"I didn't say anythi g about it editorially. There was t o much of it."

JUDGE LAWLOR INSPIRES FEAR IN THE TALESMEN WHO TRY WORN-OUT DODGES

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCIS O, Jan. 14 — Old tricks practiced by jurors summoned for trials which are lmost threadbare from over use, will not be permitted by Judge Lawlor in he present case against the president of the United Railroads, and stern was the rebuke administered to several old hands at the game who tried the dodge yesterday. When twelve men have been called to fill the box eaving the balance of the panel sitting in the courtroom, it is a forego e conclusion that the entire day will be taken up in their examination.

Taking advant e of this fact, a number of jurors have been in the habit of slipping o and going about their business, confident that they would not be called.

Judge Lawlor, owever, had received an inspiration, and before the 5 o'clock adjournme t, instructed his clerks to call the roll of the panel, with the result tha the truants were discovered. Last night several of those who had been sent at the day before came in for a stern lecture, and were informed that they should not deign to leave without the court's permission penalty of being held for contempt.

LATE AFTERNOON PROCEEDINGS IN CALHOUN CASE YESTERDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14—When THE TRIBUNE went t press yesterday afternoon, John H. A ams was being examined for a juror The man had been closely questione about the confessions of the boodlin board of supervisors and said he fo ed an opi ion from reading the new apers.

Attorneys Heney and Moore had some argument during the xamination, the former finding fault w Moore's questions, and the latter otesting against the style of the pros utor's objection. The defense then subm ed the challenge, but hinted that if th court dec ded against them they wou ask to have his testimony during the m rning session reheard.

Heney Thought H m to Be a Good Jur r

Prosecutor Heney, b ore leaving the challenge with the cou , argued to the court at some length o the question as to whether the juror c ld not set aside his opinion and held at he was impressed with the fact hat Mr. Adams would make a good ju in the case.

Attorney Lewis Byin on, who has not so far spoken in the ase, rose to his feet and replied to th assistant district attorney. He based hi argument on the Helms case, and assert that Adams had said, "I read enough of urey's statement to assure me that he ha received money."

"That alone," said By ngton, "is enough to disqualify the juror

Talesman Drew His Conclusion From Papers

When the attorney ad resumed his chair Adams took issu with him, maintaining that he had m e no such statement. Both then appe ed to the record, and the court took a ive minutes' adjournment.

The court, after tak g his place, proceeded to read the law upon the matter, and stated that he did not believe that the juror had secured his opinion from reading the testimony of Furey and himself began to interrogate him. He stated in reply to questions that he did not have any particular desire that the outcome of the trial should go one way or another. Newspaper reports were the sole source of his information and were altogether responsiblee for his opinion, and he asserted that he did not wish to get upon the jury.

Defense Scores Its First Victory in Case

Following this, Judge Lawlor said he would decide the matter on the basis of the Helms case and desired to hear arguments from counsel.

The court discussed the various phases of the law at length, and finally allowed the challenge, excusing the juror, thus scoring a point for the defense.

The first juror to express a belief that he could be fair and impartial to Calhoun was Joseph Dixon, a salesman of 3070 California street, and his replies give an indication of his ultimate selection. On direct examination he said he knew nothing of the special offer of immunity and was not intimately acquainted with any of the ex-supervisors, although he knew Coleman casually.

He had an opinion, but believed that he could readily set it aside and try the case on the evidence. Attorney Stanley Moore was satisfied with him and he was accepted by the defense.

Talesman Dixon is Open to Conviction

Assistant District Attorney O'Gara tried to discover which way Dixon's opinion went, but was prevented by the defense's objection, sustained by the court. The juror, in response to questions, said he had no bias or prejudice against the prosecution, neither had [illegible] ever stated that the prosecution [illegible] hurting business and should be stop[illegible]

It developed that Dixon knew [illegible] through politics, but had not spok[illegible] him nor expressed an opinion re[illegible] his guilt or innocence. He wa[illegible] acquainted with Porter Ashe, acc[illegible] kidnaping by an indictment of the [illegible] Jury, but had not talked with hi[illegible] graft. O'Gara then took him o[illegible] list of all the so-called "higher-ups" [illegible] have been indicted, but was unable [illegible] shake his statement in any way.

Had Discussed Car Strike With Customers

He admitted that he had discussed the graft cases and the street-car strike with customers, agreed with one side or another, and asserted that he had no prejudice either in favor of Calhoun or against the union. He said that the unions had boycotted Marks Brothers' store, where he was employed, but still felt no animosity toward them.

"Would it give you special pleasure to acquit Mr. Calhoun?" asked O'Gara finally.

"No, sir," was the reply.

"Would it grieve you to convict him?"

May Be the First Real Juror in Case

"No, sir; not if he's guilty."

"Would you vote to convict him if the evidence proved him guilty?"

"I certainly would. I'd vote to acquit if it did not."

Still the Assistant District Attorney was not satisfied and the matter of the juror's reading of the newspapers was again gone into. The prosecutor seemed anxious to secure a ground of challenge against him if possible. At this point court adjourned until 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

Immunity Is the Plan of Prosecution

"Who, if anyone did you read was he first one to offer the immunity to he Supervisors?" queried Moore

"That's objected to" fired Heney "There is not a particle of testimony hat ever came into the court to subantiate that question"

"My recollection is that there has een testimony," was the retort

"Your recollection is bad if that's our understanding," replied Heney

"My recollection is very good" re- urned Moore

"Well, I ought to know" asserted Heney, "the jury will find out that here will not be a word of testimony ffered to support a single one of the nsinuations made by counsel during he trial or in the arguments They on't present a single fact to support heir dirty insinuations"

"My recollection is very clear on this atter," said Moore "I will appeal to he record and I suggest——"

"That's enough argument" interposed he Court, "read the question, Mr Reorter"

The query was re-read and the juror nswered that he believed Rudolph preckels had made the offer of immunity.

His opinion however was so strong hat it could not be removed and the hallenge by Moore was not contested the prosecution.

eet Car Strike e Talesman Biased

use he was not on the assessment roll Otto F Bauer a dealer in automobile supplies at 28 Gough street was quickly excused after a few questions by Attorney Stanley Moore and Charles Strycker grocer residing at 3316 Cherry street was taken in hand He did not believe in immunity for the Supervisors and was unfavorable to Mr Calhoun on the score of the street car strike of 1907

A firm opinion seemed to stand in the way of his giving the defendant a fair and impartial trial but after continual prodding he thought he could weigh the testimony of the Supervisors and was accordingly accepted by Moore

Attorney Heney immediately wanted to know if Strycker could vote for a verdict of guilty if the evidence justified that decision and received an affirmative answer

Questioned as to Labor Connections

It developed that the juror's opinion was based on reading the testimony in the Ruef trial and as he told the prosecutor he felt he could not be fair he was allowed to go

His connection with trade unions in general and his association with a certain aerie of the Eagles composed largely of union men was the basis for the principal questioning of Bernard J Hanlon an insurance agent of 2661 Folsom street who after saying that he had a decided opinion was excused

John P Amos receiving teller of the Hibernia Bank asserted that he was prejudiced in the case and could not possibly try it thoroughly His examination was exceedingly brief and he was excused with the consent of both sides

Another bank employe Frank O Carleton, a bookkeeper for the Bank of California was placed under examination by Attorney Stanley Moore and during the questioning a lively spat between counsel ensued during which Heney hurled invectives at the attorneys for the defense As soon as the excitement subsided it was found that Carleton was not on the assessment roll and he was excused on that ground after which an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock

[illegible]OCEEDINGS THIS AFTERNOON IN THE CALHOUN TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 14 — William de Coursey the first juror examined in the afternoon session was not on the assessment roll and was excused at once and Robert F Haight a manufacturer's agent, of 616 Central avenue a man of very positive opinion, was examined He was very quick with his answers coming back at his questions Attorney Moore almost before the lawyer had completed his query He thought the district attorney was the man to grant immunity and would not say whether that step was a wise one He stated however that he would not believe the supervisors under oath.

Was Asked if He Knew Spreckels

Attorney Stanley Moore then asked the juror whether he did not know that Rudolph Spreckels promised immunity to the supervisors, saying that he was not after them, but was anxious to convict other persons

Attorney Heney objected to this line of questions, repeating an assertion of the morning to the effect that no such thing occurred.

Defense Welcomes All Searching Inquiry

The court upheld the prosecutor saying that the question was an improper one, whereupon Mr Moore said

"We are willing to square this question up and measure it at the four corners with anyone of a dozen questions put by the district attorney before the noon adjournment We said then and we say now, that that class of questions was allowed to the prosecution and we welcome them, but we think we are entitled to ask this particular question"

"Your recollection of the proceedings this morning is at fault, Mr Moore" said the court, after which he directed Mr Moore to proceed with another question The attorney attempted to argue the matter further but was told that he was coming very close to the border line of contempt and warned to be careful

He protested that he had no desire to be in contempt, but did think he was justified in his position

He next asked Haight whether he knew that the confessions of five supervisors were in the hands of the prosecution Once again Heney was on his feet with an objection, saying that Moore's memory regarding that matter was at fault Attorney Moore Sr asserted that Heney had no right to interrupt in that way but to enter his objection in due form

The court held that this was a proper observation and instructed Heney to desist.

"These exchanges will not be tolerated," said his honor

"This question is based upon something he knows doesn't know exists" returned Heney

Tells Heney He Is Much Mistaken

"I assert that Mr Heney's recollection is very bad" replied Moore "I think the evidence shows that the confessions of five supervisors was in the possession of the prosecution I want to accept the challenge laid down by Mr Heney I think he is mistaken"

"Well if you want to know I'll tell you it was three" was Heney's fierce reply

"Well then three" said Moore

"I believe at first as a matter of fact, it was two" asserted the prosecutor and the incident was closed

Would Not Believe Any of Supervisors

Haight's strong opinion could not be influenced in any way and he was challenged Heney however wanted to hear more of him

"Why wouldn't you believe the Supervisors?" was the first question asked

"Because I wouldn't believe them—I wouldn't believe a crowd like that," replied Haight in a loud voice

"Why?" questioned Heney

"I can't tell you why"

"Do you believe they were bribed?"

"I don't know—I presume they did"

"Isn't it because you believe they got bribes that you don't now think you could believe them?"

"Cut that up, please," requested the juror.

The question was repeated in substantially the same language and a reply was given in the affirmative

"You believe they got money?" continued Heney

"Yes sir"

Further questioning was prevented by the court who agreed with Attorney A A Moore that Heney was attempting to further disqualify rather than to resist the challenge The juror was excused by the court

Second Juror

Peter Anthes retired of 763 San Jose avenue had an opinion which did not go to the guilt or innocence of Calhoun and was challenged by Attorney Moore Heney however brought out the fact that he could give the defendant the presumption of innocence and could set aside his opinion He was quickly accepted by the prosecution and the matter submitted to the court who disallowed the challenge and accepted the juror over the exception and objection interposed by the defense

Mr Anthes was formerly a mining man and has lived in this city for fifty seven years

1 DEAD; 15 HURT IN HOTEL FIRE

Wells began a systematic trip through the house waking the guests

Jump From Windows

Men women and children scantily clad were soon crowding the upper halls About half of the 150 guests managed to get to the lower floor and out through the front and side doors before the stairway was cut off Half a dozen were forced to jump from windows while the others were rescued by firemen from the windows of the hotel from tops of adjoining buildings to which they had jumped and from fire escape landings

Barefooted in Snow

But few of the guests had time to collect their personal belongings and most of the guests got out of the building only in their night clothes The ground was covered with snow and the refugees tramped barefooted and scantily clad to the Y M C A building and nearby drug stores, where the injured were cared for

There were many thrilling escapes A W Smith of McPherson former department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for Kansas and once a candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, and F Rowland also of McPherson were sleeping in a room on the fourth floor The two made a rope of their bed clothing and suspended it from the window Each in turn descended as far as possible on the rope and dropped to the ground Smith sustained a broken ankle and internal injuries Rowland had three ribs broken

Saved Valuables

Webb McNall of Smith county former State Superintendent of Insurance was sleeping in a room on the top floor in the front part of the building In the room with him was a suitcase containing $75 000 of Kansas municipal bonds, the property of a fraternal organization and just purchased for it by a committee of which McNall was a member McNall waited patiently in the front window while the firemen below were making efforts to get a ladder up to the window The first ladder was too short A fireman reached a fire escape ten feet from the window ledge Another ladder was sent up to him Holding this across the gap the fireman supported McNall while the latter climbed to the fire ladder and to safety McNall first had thrown his treasured suit case to the ground

Thomas Benton Murdock the veteran editor of the El Dorado Republican occupied a room on the south side of the fourth floor Awakened by the cries of fire he found escape cut off by the hallway and climbed out of the window and hung suspended from the ledge Soon his roommate handed out a blanket and down this improvised ladder Editor Murdock slid, finally dropping to the roof of an adjoining building.

The couple had been engaged for some time and everything seemed rosy in their courtship until galloping consumption stole in and claimed Jarvis as its victim Then despondency entered and finally self destruction ended everything

Jarvis was a Canadian He received remittance from home regularly every month

Body Found in Bay

Jarvis' decomposed body was found floating in the estuary at the foot of Franklin street this morning by Patrick Smith and C L Pratt They notified the authorities and the corpse was removed to the morgue It is believed that Jarvis leaped into the water from one of the ferryboats as there are no marks on the body to indicate death from any other cause than drowning and from the additional fact that on several occasions before his disappearance he had intimated to friends that he intended to take that route out of the world.

PROBATION OFFICER BREAKS THE DEADLOCK

When the case against Mrs Laura Koster came up in the criminal court this morning there was considerable interest manifested because of the peculiar features of the case and of the new stand taken by Judge Brown pertaining to felony cases where a plea of guilty has been entered or where a jury has determined the guilt of a defendant

It was decided to let the case go over for pleading until February 28 after Probation Officer Ruess came to the rescue and split up a deadlock that has existed in the matter for some days

Ruess agreed to look up the matter and report upon it on February 28 On that day Mrs Koster will probably plead guilty and upon the report of the probation officer Judge Brown will release her on probation

MORPHINE CAUSES HIS DOWNFAL

Harvey Miller Sent to Prison for Stealing to Buy the Drug

Harvey Miller aged 23 years appeared before Judge Brown this morning for sentence on a burglary charge Miller pleaded guilty to having entered a house in daylight and extracted some small articles from a trunk which he sold to obtain money with which to buy morphine The court had found that the crime was burglary in the second degree

Miller was asked whether he had anything to say before sentence should be pronounced upon him His attorney J Ros[illegible] asked leave to present a corps of witnesses as to the previous good character of his client and to offer testimony in extenuation of his offense

Was Reliable Workman

The young man's former employer testified that he had found Miller a bright young man entirely trustworthy Up until [illegible] Miller at all times had [illegible] all the [illegible] his employer's house and it was shown that nothing had been missed from the office After Miller [illegible] the use of morphine his nerves became shaky at times [illegible] looked ill and he finally went to his employer and told him that he realized he was no longer capable of rendering honest service It was with reluctance that [illegible] was allowed to go

Frank Miller a brother told how M[illegible] came to him sometimes at unusual hours of the night and shaken by the drug pleaded [illegible] and remained like demented

Brother as Judge

Judge Brown asked Frank Miller what he thought should be done with his brother When the matter was placed before him by the court the witness hesitated He had come there [illegible] from giving his brother [illegible] but when he [illegible] could think of [illegible] was that jail was not the only place where the prisoner could recover [illegible] the secure of immunity from its ravages

Hesitatingly Frank Miller looked at his brother then at the judge and then helplessly at the audience but every face [illegible] no inspiration [illegible] and the room was perfectly still while one brother pronounced judgment upon another

"Was a Good Boy"

"Well" he said "I suppose if he were kept away from it (morphine) for a while he might get over it I don't know much about the stuff but it seemed to make him crazy He was always a good boy If he didn't go to jail—perhaps if he was on probation—he'd stop I'd do all in my power to help him"

Judge Brown questioned Harvey Miller who said he had not then used any drug for six weeks and that he felt fairly sure of himself now but he thought it would be very hard at first if he were liberated for him to keep away from it

Two Years in Prison

On this showing Judge Brown sentenced Miller to two years in Folsom prison but at Miller's request changed the sentence so that the prisoner will do his time in San Quentin instead In pronouncing sentence the court adjured Miller to take his sentence as a precaution as much as a punishment and to let it prepare him for a useful life when he emerged cured of his habit

— An optical business where friends count more than profits—

In our business as opticians we always advise patrons to see an oculist if, upon examination, we find any serious eye defects.

We believe in safety before profit.

We often find people who do not need glasses and whose eye troubles can be better corrected by other treatment. We always advise them what to do and make no attempt to sell them glasses.

We believe in making friends.

We take the same interest in a pair of glasses after the sale has been made and while the owner is wearing them as we do in our unsold stock.

No sale is complete at the California Optical Co until the customer is absolutely and permanently satisfied.

Often we find that we can save expense for a customer by the use of a cheaper frame, or by cementing their broken lenses. If we can do so we offer the suggestion and gladly sacrifice the immediate profit for the future good will.

TO RAISE FUND FOR BOULEVARD

New Road Planned Between Sausalito and Neighboring Towns.

SAN RAFAEL, Jan. 14.—Supervisor Michael Burke and City Trustee James Begley, assisted by Supervisors Pistolesi, Pedrotti and Pacheco, are to create a fund to build a boulevard between Sausalito, Corte Madera, San Anselmo, San Rafael and Novato, to the Sonoma county line.

It is their intention first to circulate a subscription list throughout the district and raise as much money as possible from private sources. It is proposed to have the trustees of Sausalito, Larkspur, Ross, San Anselmo and San Rafael act in conjunction with them and to appoint two of their members to act on the general committee.

Subscription lists will be placed in all banks in the county. The trustees intend to call upon the California Automobile Association for a subscription of $5,000. After the subscription list is exhausted the committee will raise the balance of the money by bonding each district.

NEED $35,000 TO ENLARGE SCHOOL

Trustees of Mill Valley and Sausalito Suggest Bond Election to Raise Money.

SAN RAFAEL, Jan. 14.—The Union High School trustees of Mill Valley and Sausalito have issued a statement to the electors of their district, informing them that it will be necessary to hold a bond election to raise $35,000 or more in order to make the necessary improvements to accommodate the increase of the students in the High School.

The present building, they allege, is inadequate and it will require $25,000 to enlarge and complete it. The extra $10,000 will be used for additional equipment and for purchasing additional school property. The trustees state that there are two ways to raise this money—by direct taxation or by bond.

NOMINATION BY DIRECT BALLOT FEATURE OF BILL JUST SUBMITTED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Providing for the nomination of candidates by direct ballot at a September primary election, limiting the pre-election expenditures of candidates for all offices from United States Senators and Congressmen to unimportant county positions, and differing in many important particulars from the several direct primary measures already presented, the Wright bill, which has been endorsed by the Direct Primary League, was introduced in the Assembly today by Speaker Stanton.

Main Features of Bill

Notable among the distinctive features of the bill are the pledges which candidates to the State senate and assembly are required to make with reference to their vote upon the United States senatorial candidates of their party. While neither pledge provided is intended to be valid ground for refusal to receive and file the nomination papers of a candidate, those aspiring to office in the legislative body of the State are required to stipulate that they will accept recommendation of their party for the office of United States Senator and vote in accordance with the dictates of the party leaders or they are required to make a pre-election statement that the wish of the people polling the highest vote for United States Senator will be regarded as a mere recommendation.

Direct Ballot Provided

Under the provisions of the Wright bill candidates for all State, county, and city positions and the office of United States Senator and Congressmen may be nominated by direct ballot cast at the regular polling places at a primary election on the first Tuesday in September. A simple and apparently practical method of balloting is proposed, qualified electors being provided with nominating blanks upon which they may signify with the usual cross the preferred candidates. Separate ballots, or nomination blanks, are furnished by the State or county or city and county, whichever the case may be, for each political party and for each independent candidate.

Conduct of Polling Places

The polling places are to be conducted by a corps of election officers, similar to those employed under the present system. The nomination blanks are to be bound together by precincts when the balloting closes, and, when thus counted, the persons receiving certain percentages of choice specified in the bill to be duly accredited as nominees for the respective offices. Candidates may designate verification deputies to represent them at the polling places. The right of challenge is also made a part of the system and any elector's ballot may be questioned.

Percentage Vote Necessary

Candidates for United States Senator must receive 6 per cent of the vote of their party in each of at least ten counties in the State and not less than 1 or more than 10 per cent of the total vote.

Congressional candidates for districts of more than two counties must receive 2 per cent of one-tenth of the election precincts of one-half of the counties comprising the district, and not less than 2 per cent nor more than 10 per cent of the whole vote of the district.

Presidential Vote the Bases

For any office voted upon entirely within a county or city, or city and county, the candidate must receive 3 per cent of the vote of his party in one-fourth of the election precincts and not less than 3 nor more than 10 per cent of the total vote in the city or county or city and county. The basis of percentage in each case shall be the vote of the party for Presidential Electors receiving the greatest number of votes at the preceding Presidential election.

Schedule of Expenses

No expenses for nomination or election to any office including that of United States Senator are allowed under the Wright bill, excepting nominal nomination filing fees which are specified, or each character of office expenditures for circulating and verifying nomination papers, candidates' personal traveling expenses, rent and necessary furnishing of halls or rooms during candidacy, payment of speakers and musicians at public meetings together with their necessary traveling expenses, printing and distribution of pamphlets, circulars, newspapers, cards, handbills, posters and announcements relative to the candidate or to political issues and principles, the candidate's share of a reasonable compensation for challengers, making canvasses and clerk hire, conveying infirm or disabled voters to and from the polls.

Limitation of Expenses

Expenditures are limited as follows: In cases where the vote at the last preceding general election was 5000, $250, for every 100 voters over 5000, and under 25,000, $2 over 25,000 and under 50,000 $1 every 100 over 50,000 50 cents.

San Francisco Briefs

Petitions to Sell Bank.—Edward J. Le Breton, receiver of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, yesterday petitioned for power to sell the bank building and site at California and Montgomery streets. The state has a $500,000 mortgage on the property as security, but Le Breton believes he can sell the property for a much greater sum than the State would secure under a foreclosure.

Finds Youth Under Bed.—Reaching behind her bed for a book, Mrs. Alice Walters, proprietress of the Ardell apartment house, 1740 Pacific avenue, was startled yesterday to find Harold Wyman, a discharged bellboy, beneath. He will not be prosecuted.

General Smith Robbed.—The official residence of General Frederick A. Smith, military commander of the Department of California, was robbed two nights ago and James Nolan, private of Company 12, Eighth Infantry, is in the guardhouse awaiting trial by general court-martial on the charge.

Electoral Vote Filed.—The official vote of California by the Presidential electors was filed with Judge De Haven of the United States District Court yesterday as required by the constitution. It was signed by all the electors and was deposited by Elector Druffel. The other official vote will be sent to Washington.

Dorothy Allen Freed.—The case against Dorothy Allen, actress, accused by Evan J. Collins, the Seattle alderman, with embezzling a diamond ring and diamond brooch from him, was yesterday dismissed by Police Judge Conlan on the ground that the jewels had been gifts.

RAILROADS TO COMBINE OFFICES AT THE FERRY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The Santa Fe and the Northwestern Pacific are making arrangements to occupy offices jointly in the reconstructed ground floor apartments in the north wing of the ferry building. This is a move in the interest of economy, as President A. H. Payson of the Northwestern Pacific is assistant to the president of the Santa Fe, which is half owner of the Northwestern Pacific, the other half of which is owned by the Harriman interests.

Beginning next Sunday the Northwestern Pacific will lengthen its ferry schedule, changing it from a 30-minute interval between boats to a 40-minute. This will be a winter change, in effect till about April 1, when the 30-minute schedule will be restored.

THE REASON FOR IT

"You seem to be pretty busy," said a representative of this paper yesterday to Mr. Green, of S. N. Wood & Co.'s.

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. Green; "but it is little wonder when you consider that a man can come in here and select any suit, overcoat or raincoat in this entire stock, and take one-quarter off its already low price. There are absolutely no restrictions in this sale. It takes in every suit and overcoat in this stock. So you see it's no wonder we are very busy."

Don't Take the Risk

When you have a bad cough or cold do not let it drag along until it becomes chronic bronchitis or develops into an attack of pneumonia, but give it the attention it deserves and get rid of it. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are sure of prompt relief. From a small beginning the sale and use of this preparation has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Around the fire box of "The Malleable" is over 100 pounds of gray iron which is so heavy and built on such lines that it is an utter impossibility for it to burn out in less than 10 years, and not then if given the proper care. We will replace free any fire box burning out in less time than that.

Everything about the Malleable is guaranteed by the factory, as well as ourselves.

The annealed waterback, with which The Malleable is equipped, is far better than castiron, being more durable and allowing instantaneous heating of water.

"The Malleable" has a triple body, the outer wall being a sheet of Polished steel, the inside being of cold rolled steel. Between them is asbestos mill board.

At points of joining our walls are reinforced by angle iron and then riveted together, making a durable and air-tight joint.

For $1.00 we will Deliver and Make Free All Connections Necessary for the Proper Operation of the Malleable Range, the Balance to be Paid at the Rate of $1.00 a Week.

Certain customers coming to inspect this range have been told by competitors that we would charge for deliveries or connections, and to others who may have been told the same thing we wish to emphatically state that we positively never have, and never will make any charge for water connections, and all you need is $1.00, not one penny more, to have this range set up in your kitchen complete for immediate use.

There never has and never will appear a misleading statement in our advertisements, and every promise will be carried out to the letter. Therefore, when we say $1.00 down for "the Malleable" that is exactly what it means, and there'll be no extras, either, at the date of purchase or in time to come.

Convention City of the West.

The Los Angeles Evening News seems to have an idea that Los Angeles "is the coming convention city of the United States." That city relies upon its magnificent hotel accommodations for its success in that direction. No city can become attractive to national conventions of any kind unless it has plenty of big modern well furnished and well managed hotels. Los Angeles has learned the value of first-class hotels as no other city in the State has done and it has been for many years reaping a golden harvest through that knowledge. Tourists drop millions in Los Angeles every winter and those millions are distributed among its citizens through the tourist hotels, which are multiplying there every year. But, whenever anything happens abroad to reduce the tourist hotel patronage, it creates financial depression in Los Angeles from which it takes a long time to recover, for the reason that tourist travel has become its chief asset. It lost the tourist traffic from the East last winter owing to the bankers' panic which followed the ruin wrought by the battle between the big speculators over copper in Wall Street in October, 1907, and which suddenly forced the hoarding of their resources by those who were in the habit of making their annual visits to California to escape from the rigors of an eastern climate. But that untoward experience has prompted the Los Angelenos to begin booming their city and its suburbs of big and well appointed hotels as the future convention city of the nation.

The only real rival Los Angeles can have on this coast in that respect is Oakland, which has a multitude of other attractions outside of big hotels to draw to it the great organizations of the country for the holding of their annual gatherings. But big hotels and plenty of first-class hotel accommodations are important elements toward securing complete success in any municipality aspiring to become a convention city.

Oakland is not, however, as dependent upon hotel-building and hotel patronage for its present or future prosperity as is Los Angeles, for it has what the latter city does not possess, and which it never can possess, owing to its remoteness from the sea, a growing commerce which an ideal harbor is attracting to it, and it is advancing with rapid strides toward assuming the premier position as a manufacturing center in the western half of the country. It is located in the frostless and practically fogless belt; possesses a mild and equable climate which is never enervating; stands among picturesque surroundings and, moreover, lies in the heart of the most populous part of the Pacific Coast, all of which constitute drawing cards for great conventions. During the past two years, Oakland has housed many conventions of some of the more important organizations in the country and it lies within the power of its moneyed citizens by hotel building to make it the convention city of the West, despite whatever effort Los Angeles may make to boom itself.

Roosevelt's Endurance Feat.

The President submitted yesterday to the physical test imposed upon army and navy officers of riding ninety miles in three successive days as much for the sake of working off some of his superfluous energy as to demonstrate that the test is not severe. It was at least a diversion from the other kind of strenuosity which has marked his daily life within the last week or two. At all events, the President and the three officers which accompanied him from the White House to Warrenton, Va., and return, put to shame all of the records made by those officers who previously submitted to the test. The ride was over rough Virginia roads which are naturally in their worst condition at this season of the year and the distance covered was ninety-eight miles—eight miles in excess of the army and navy requirements—and the ride was completed between 3:30 a. m. and 8:40 p. m. of the same day. The President and his party were seventeen hours in the saddle, having used four relays of horses on the trip. Two of the animals ridden by the President were his own horses, the other two ordinary cavalry horses which he had never before ridden. When he dismounted at the entrance of the White House, he not only showed no sign of fatigue, but had manifestly enjoyed the ride. It was an object lesson to army and navy officers, which was certainly worth the making, and it served the other purpose of putting a quietus to the criticism that the ninety-mile three-day ride was too severe a physical test to exact from any officer.

Regulation of Produce Markets.

The rains have been bountiful and grass on the pastures is abundant, but the price of butter to consumers is still at the topnotch of 85 cents per two-pound square. The creamery managers disclaim responsibility for the regulation of the market quotations of butter and eggs. They pass "the buck" to the Produce Exchange. Speaking on this subject the other day, a local creamery manager said that the highest bid in the sales made each day at the Exchange, whether it be for a box or a carload of butter or eggs, is the standard for fixing the retail market quotation for the day.

It is obvious to the dullest intelligence that such a system of determining retail market prices is in no way affected by the ordinary rules of supply and demand. If it is not so worked, it certainly affords a splendid opportunity for regulation by pre-arrangement. What is to prevent by pre-arrangement the bulk of the dairy produce handled by the Exchange being auctioned off at a low rate, and a small lot being run up to a high figure in order to establish the day's market quotations? The difference between the highest bid for this small lot and the average price at which the bulk of the day's receipts has been auctioned off leaves a big margin for profits.

Cold storage has practically destroyed the natural law of supply and demand However much greater the supply of butter or eggs may be than the market demands, the excess goes at this season of the year into cold storage to be brought out in the fall of the year as fresh grass product or fresh laid. Consumers have virtually no chance under such a system, for they are assuredly the helpless victims of the game "heads I win; tails you lose."

Milking cows by machinery, after a two years' test, is pronounced by a bulletin issued by the Nebraska Experiment Station as not altogether a success either from a sanitary or an economical standpoint. The milking machine needs some sort of power to operate it and the greatest care to wash and scald its various parts after it has been used to keep it perfectly clean and free from germs. It has been found also that it cannot be properly sterilized except by the use of live steam. It is, moreover, only adapted to large dairies and even, in them, the results obtained have not been satisfactory.

The Secretary of Agriculture in an address delivered yesterday before the American Forestry Association emphasized the fact that we are hastening the disappearance of the forests by the improvident course of using up annually three times the amount of wood that we are growing. It is about time for the country to wake up and follow the plan of Norway, Sweden, Germany and Great Britain, where reforestation is carefully provided for and encouraged by planting a score of saplings for every merchantable tree felled. In those countries the forests are valuable assets which are carefully fostered. In Norway and Sweden timber constitutes one of the chief articles of exports, and so carefully is reforestation carried out that notwithstanding the large amount of lumbering carried on, the forests contain more merchantable timber today than at any time previously during the past one hundred years.

The entomolgists of the Agricultural Department are on the trail of the manufacturers of insecticides which have been found to be so heavily adulterated that they do not destroy the orchard pests for whose extermination they are employed. The department is so well satisfied with the workings of the pure food law that it is urging the passage of a bill by Congress which has been prepared on similar lines, by making it a misdemeanor to manufacture adulterated or mislabeled insecticides or fumigicides in any Territory or the District of Columbia. Moreover, it shuts out of interstate commerce such adulterations.

The jubilation of the valley farmers over the timely and copious rainfall this season is beginning to give way to a fear that it will turn into a flood.

SUFFRAGISTS AT CAPITAL IN ALARMING STRENGTH

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—The suffragists have arrived and more are to come, according to Mrs. Mary Sperry, president of their state organization. Particularly a delegation of 600 from Los Angeles, who are waiting for milder weather. But 2,000 would-be voters of the sex which used to be called "weak" are represented by those on hand, and the few enthusiastic lobbyist who came the first legislative day look more cheerful as their support increases.

Among the recent arrivals are Mrs. J. W. Amrath of the Mill Valley Equal Suffrage Club, Mrs. Sidney Coulson of the Contra Costa Equal Suffrage Club, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Watson of Santa Clara, Mrs. Adelaide Glyus of Nevada county, Dr. J. Shuey of the Oakland Equal Suffrage Political Club, Mrs. M. F. Murray of the Oakland Equal Suffrage Club, Mrs. Mary Gamage, president of the Equal Suffrage League of San Francisco and president of the Richmond Improvement Club, Mrs. Anna Chase of the Equal Suffrage League of San Francisco, and Mrs. J. W. Campbell of Copperopolis.

"ALL PERSONS LIARS," SAYS PROF. H. KLINE

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Everybody tells lies, and even when people take an oath they are prone to make mistakes, either consciously or unconsciously, according to Howard D. Kline professor of psychology at Leland Stanford University, who delivered a lecture before the Psychologic Club at the University of Chicago.

"Even when people take an oath that certain statements are true, the fact is that they make 10 per cent of mistakes," said the professor "Millionaire tax-dodgers and politicians are generally prone to cover up the truth or untruth of a thing. A politician will tell you what a splendid State government and civic government will follow if you do as he directs. But to err is human, and we wake up to that fact after we vote. The millionaire tax-dodger will tell the tax collector that his personal property is small and you are surprised to learn he is worth only half a million."

SLOAT MONUMENT DESIGN ACCEPTED

M. Earl Cummings and Arthur Putnam Awarded First Prize by Committee.

In an open competition participated in by twenty three of the most prominent sculptors in the country, M. Earl Cummings and Arthur Putnam of San Francisco have been awarded first prize for a design for the proposed monument to Commodore John Drake Sloat to be erected at Monterey, where the commodore, on July 7, 1846, took possession of California for the United States.

The committee making the selection was composed of Vanderlynn Snow, president of the San Francisco Art Association, Major Edwin A. Sherman of the Society of Mexican War Veterans, John Galen Howard, professor of architecture at the University of California; John A. Stanton, professor of drawing and painting at the California School of Design, and Robert H. Fletcher, director of the San Francisco Institute of Art.

This committee was selected by the War Department last year, after Congress had appropriated $10,000 for the erection of the monument

Of the appropriation $1000 was set aside for the obtaining of a suitable design and other preliminary expenses. The competitors were compelled to figure on a monument that could be built for the remaining $9000 and still conform artistically to a stone base twenty-four feet square, which the Monument Association, aided by the various counties and by military and civic organizations, has already constructed on the Monterey Presidio.

Messrs. Cummings and Putnam, who name Bakewell & Brown, architects, as responsible for some of the architectural features, receive $250 of the prize money, John Flanagan of New York gets second prize, $160, and J. J. MacQuarrie of San Francisco, third prize, $100. Honorable mention is given Edgar Walter of San Francisco and Augustus Lukeman of New York.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

When a man says he is blase he means his stomach has gone back on him.

Some men would be willing to go to jail to get into the society there of a millionaire

Most people are more concerned with keeping out of hell than with getting into heaven.

There is no way one woman can be so hateful to another as to be better dressed than she is.

The only thing that can try a woman's patience more than being married is not being.

A woman is always proud to say she has a fashionable dressmaker, specially if she hasn't.

The first time a man makes love he's afraid the girl won't believe him; ever afterward that she will.

Practically every man has a sneaking suspicion that there is something disgraceful in being useful.

When a young woman shows a deep interest in an old man it's a sign she can make him think it's real.

One reason people can't be cured of wasting their money is they find that for enjoyment it's about the only kind of spending that's worth it.

Anty Drudge's Opinion.

Mrs. Doubtful—"Which kind of soap do you like best, Anty, yellow or white?"

Anty Drudge—"I'd rather have a yellow soap that makes the clothes white than a white soap that makes them yellow. Fels-Naptha makes the clothes white as snow. It's yellow because that is the natural color of soap when it hasn't been bleached and weakened by chemicals."

Perhaps a woman feels more like working in Winter than Summer.

Perhaps she feels more like pitching in and doing a big week's washing.

But that's no reason why she should boil her clothes and wash them in hot water.

No reason why she should fill her house with nauseous steam and run the risk of catching a bad cold.

No reason for reddening hands and face by hot water and steam.

No reason for breaking her back over the washtub, hard-rubbing.

No indeed. Washing with Fels-Naptha soap in lukewarm water is just as sensible in Winter as in Summer.

Let Fels-Naptha save the boiling and hard-rubbing.

Let it do your washing in half the time of the old way.

Save your energy for something else.

If you don't know the Fels-Naptha way of washing by heart, read and follow the simple directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

Tells also how to best wash flannels, woolens, colored things.

MELVIN RENDERS FIRST DECISION

New Associate Justice Affirms Ruling of Lower Court in Land Case.

The San Francisco Recor r has just published the first decision ndered by Associate Justice Melvin, si o his elevation to the supreme bench to fill the unexpired term of the late Associate Justice McFarland.

It disposes of an appeal om a decision by Superior Judge Un gst of San Luis Obispo county in a s t to quiet title to a tract of land which a grant had been given by a owner—Ricklmore to F. Nivard euval, to bituminous rock or asphalt and remove the same from the emises on consideration of the payment a royalty on three hundred tons a y r whether such quantity of mineral was emoved or not, with the option of aban onment at any time on giving thirty ys' notice. A vineyard and orchard pla ed on the land was, however, exempt from the operation of the "grant."

Petroleum Is Discover d

Neuval quarried and ship d twenty-five tons from the land, thou ult operations and removed the pl t he had installed here. But he gav no notice of abandonment. He paid, wever, the royalty up to the time of his death, when it ceased. Later pet oleum was discovered on the land and t plaintiffs brought suit to quiet the t le, as the heirs of Neuval set up the laim that the use of the word "grant" in the instrument given him by Ricki re was in reality a conveyance of the roperty in "fee simple." And it was ound this word "grant" that the con ntion revolved. The plaintiffs clai d that it was synonymous to "lease" nd meant nothing more and that when Neuval's machinery was removed and e payment of the agreed royalty was opped the lease became abandoned a ough the thirty days' notice of aband ment was not given. Superior Judge I ingst sustained the claim of the pl ntiffs and denied a motion for a new rial. Neuval's heirs thereupon appeale from the order denying a new trial, an the hearing of the appeal was assig ed to Department Two of the Suprem Court and the writing of the court's o inion was delegated to Justice Melvin.

"Grant" Means Lease

The opinion holds that he word "grant" meant lease, that the life of the lease was dependent on the ining for mineral and the payment of a royalty; that the discontinuance of operations and the removal of the mac nery from the premises was a virtual abandonment, that a notice of aban onment in writing was not essential, as the lessor could waive such notice, an that the appellants failed to do equ y by neglecting to tender the paym nt of the royalty before asking for t enforcement of the contract.

Justice Melvin affirmed th judgment of the lower court and the o der denying a new trial, and his asso ates, Justices Henshaw and Lorigan, concurred in the decision rendered.

MILKMAN AND TEAM SWEPT OUT TO SEA

SANTA CRUZ, Jan 14.—Within full view of fifty people, powerless to render any aid, and with the San Lorenzo river running higher than for years, Massino Mossi, a milkman, and a team of horses were swept to death and into the ocean yesterday. Mossi attempted to cross the river at the Summer crossing, not realizing how swiftly the river was running. When he reached the center of the stream the full velocity of the current struck his wagon and the vehicle and horses were carried down the strem

Carlo Bonzani, a laborer, swam out and tried to persuade Mossi to leave the wagon, but he refused. Harry Sturges, an 18-year-old boy, then swam out with a rope and tried to get Mossi to fasten it to the wagon so it could be drawn out with a block and tackle, but Mossi, in a panic of fear, did nothing but hold to the lines. The last seen of Mossi was near the river bank, where he was endeavoring to catch some of the overhanging limbs of the willows that skirt the bank.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

PALO ALTO, Jan. 14.—The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Butler, pioneer of the State and this city, was celebrated yesterday. The couple were residents of Tehama county in 1859, when they were married, Mrs. Butler being the granddaughter of General Castro. Shortly after the ceremony the couple moved to Idaho, where Butler conducted a paper during the Civil war. On returning to California Butler managed a publishing business in Oakland for some time, later moving to this city, where he built one of the first large residences and became prominent in public affairs.

Do Fat Folks Worry?

Most thin people would say, no. Most fat folks, yes. They have all the causes for worry thin people have, and one other—their fat Fat mortifies women because it spoils their appearance, and it distresses men, for it affects their activity. A few are afraid of it. There are few fat members of either sex who would not gladly dispense with 30 to 50 pounds if they knew how.

The "how" is my excuse for taking up this newspaper space. Although very few fat folks know it (and those who do are no longer fat), there is a very simple method of reducing safely. All one has to do is take after meals and at bedtime one teaspoonful of the following simple receipt, which any druggist will fill for a few cents: One-half ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water, and the trick is turned

This is a certain cure for "fat folks' worry," for it does away with all necessity for exercise or dieting. It never causes wrinkles or stomach disturbances, and 12 to 16 ounces, I am told, is by no means an unusual amount of fat for it to take off daily.

HATTIE FORSYTH FOND OF 'TONY,' NOT TO WED HIM

Show Girl Denies Engagement to Young Drexel, but She's to Marry Soon.

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—"Just say I am going to marry the nicest kind of a chap and let it go at that," said Miss Hattie Forsyth in reply to a question on her approaching marriage. But she wouldn't tell when, where or to whom. She said, however, the happy bridegroom will not be young Tony Drexel, son of Mr and Mrs. Anthony J Drexel, of Philadelphia, to whom Broadway has considered her engaged for some time—in fact, ever since he danced such assiduous attendance to the fair show girl on the steamer that brought her from Europe in August, and him from an English school for vacation.

He Wouldn't Like It

"No, you must not ask me to give my dearest secret away," she replied, when pressed for the name of her fiance. "He wouldn't like it. Oh, I'll surprise some folks, all right. I don't see him every day. In fact I seldom see him, and very few of my friends have ever seen me in his company."

Then Miss Forsyth told how fatigued she was from a futile search for a suitable house. All day long she looked without finding what she wanted. But then she must have one on Riverside Drive, West End avenue, Fifth avenue or Central Park West, where they are hard to get.

"When do you expect to marry?" the show girl was asked.

"Oh, that would be telling. I expect to be married some time this month. To tell the truth, the date has not been set. If I said that I was to be married on a certain day and something happened and I didn't get married, then the joke would be on me. See?"

Poor Tony

"No, I am not going to marry Tony," she said when asked about young Mr Drexel. "While my family is just as good as his, there is great objection on the part of his parents. If we married they would always be interfering in our affairs and that would make us both very unhappy, so I have decided not to marry him.

"But you can say one thing: Tony is very fond of me and I am very fond of Tony. He is one of the dearest fellows in the world. Too bad, isn't it, that young people can't be let alone in their love affairs?"

"Will you quit the stage when you are married?"

"That is my present intention. But then you know married life is so uncertain. One can never tell until after they have been married some time. You see I have never been married, and I don't know whether I will like it or not. It all depends."

Hattie Forsyth is now appearing in "The Queen of the Moulin Rouge," that naughty play at the Circle Theater, where she has a speaking part somewhat smaller even than her stage costume.

Conjugal Bliss In 1950

"My love," mentioned Mr Sufferer-Gette, "I wonder—I wonder whether you would let me have the use of my latchkey this week."

"Latchkey!" bellowed his wife, "What the dickens do you want with a latchkey, my good man?"

"Well, my love," coughed Mr Suffer-gette, "we are holding a series of fathers' foregatherings in the mission hall this week, when we hope to do a little needlework on behalf of the parish poor. Miss Nancy has kindly consented to come and talk to us about her recent Farthest North trip, an[d]—"

"Great heavens!" roared the irate wife, banging her pipe upon the table to emphasize her words. "Don't you know your duty is at home? Besides, on Monday I've got to attend the Women's Emancipation League, Tuesday, the Sisters of Charity meeting, Wednesday, the local policewomen's concert, Thursday the Daughters of Toil lecture, Friday, the Women's Science Research class and on Saturday our football club's smoker. Now, don't you forget—your duty is at home!"

And so it came to pass.

'My Suit Is for Divorce'

Says Wife of Society Leader, Removing Mystery From Her Court Action

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—Mrs. Fannie Tailer Smith has confirmed the report that she has started an action for divorce against the debonair Sydney F Smith, clubman, society favorite, athlete and real estate operator.

Mrs. Smith with her servants and a member of her own family is still occupying her beautiful home at No 4 East Eighty-sixth street, and she is anything but the proverbial feminine reed as a consequence of her legal proceedings now pending in the Supreme Court.

"I am Mrs. Smith—Mrs. Fannie Tailer Smith," she said. "What is it you would like to know?"

Admits It

"Are you suing your husband for a separation or for a divorce?" she was asked.

"For a divorce, of course," replied Mrs. Smith without hesitation. "While I would rather not have the customary publicity which attends such domestic functions, I am sensible enough to realize that the truth, once spoken, ends all curiosity as well as mystery."

Mrs. Smith then plainly intimated that she did not propose to go into hiding over the affair, notwithstanding its unpleasant features.

"When do you expect to obtain your divorce?"

Expects Divorce Soon

"Very soon, almost immediately—for I understand that there will be no delay."

Mrs. Smith was informed that the interest in her suit was occasioned by reason of the prominence of her own family connections in New York, Newport and Tuxedo, and those of her husband in the South.

"I rather think it has been overdrawn," she replied. "It is needless for me to say that I would prefer that nothing be printed in the newspapers—at least until after I obtain my divorce. But I don't expect my personal wishes to count at all."

MRS S J SMITH.

A MERRY WIDOW EPISODE IN A CROWDED STREET CAR

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—Peacefully the little man in the big hat slept in the forward seat of the Broadway car. He was getting a much needed nap after a busy day. As the car sped uptown the seats gradually filled and presently two young women took the last remaining space in the forward seat. The one next to the sleeper wore the very acme of a Merry Widow hat, the chief decoration of which was a bird.

To say that it was merely a bird would be doing that headpiece but scant justice. It was a bird that would have made the birdologist sit up in amazement and wonder what remote part of the world such a specimen could have come from. Behind its long black beak was a fiery red head out of which peeped two malevolent green eyes—beads they were. But the chief feature of the rare bird was its tail. The green and yellow wings seemed pitifully inadequate by comparison. Full 2 feet long were the half dozen gorgeous feathers composing that amazing caudal appendage.

The instant the owner of the bird plumped herself down beside the napping man in the Panama those long tail feathers began their diabolical tricks. As the two young women engaged in an animated conversation the long feathers fluttered under the broad brim of the Panama and tickled the sleeper now on the ear, and [illegible] on the nose and chin.

In a moment the man's sonorous breathing gave place to short, sharp snorts. Then he struck out wildly at what his returning senses obviously took for pestiferous flies. His fingers caught the long tail feathers and gave them such a violent jerk as must have lifted the owner's scalp lock.

"You brute!" exclaimed the young woman in a tone that set every passenger in that end of the car bursting into fits of long suppressed laughter.

"I humbly apologize," murmured the man in the Panama, "but madam, I shall be under great obligations if you will keep that bird's tail out of my face."

"Sir," retorted the Merry Widow, "if you were endowed with a single attribute of the gentleman you would leave this car instantly."

"Madam," calmly rejoined the man in the Panama, "[illegible] would that bird."

But the other passengers never [illegible] to learn what would happen if the bird belonged to the late sleeper. The Merry Widow and her companion [illegible] to the left as one gave the bell a vicious jerk and as the car came to a stop [illegible].

"Brute!" hissed the owner of the bird, shooting the man in the Panama dead with a single glance of her flashing eyes. "And in the cool [illegible] that [illegible] curtail of plumage [illegible]."

Sociologist Demonstrating That Woman Is Only a Man's Horse

Woman Is Man's Horse, Declares Mrs. Gilman

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw Takes Opposite View

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the sociologist, who recently stirred an audience in Atlantic City by declaring that woman is man's slave, stirred another audience here by declaring that woman is man's horse.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Trade Union League, at Carnegie Lyceum, Mrs. Gilman debated with the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw the question, "Is the Wife Supported by Her Husband?" Mrs. Gilman maintained the affirmative, Mrs. Shaw the negative. Edmund Kelly presided.

Mrs. Gilman opened the ball by going back to paleontology and demonstrating that in the beginning of things woman was not only the mother of man but the mother of industry as well. That state of affairs lasted a few eons, she said, and then man woke up. From the door of his tent he perceived that woman, by doing all the work, was getting all the credit, so he drove her from the field by main strength. It being the nature of the beast to be willing to work as long as there was kingdom and honor and glory in it.

Jealous of Women

He was jealous of her, was the hulking brute, so he then and there inaugurated the horn bill use of woman which has endured to the present day.

The horn bill is a selfish bird who puts his spouse on a setting of eggs and walls her up with mud. By the time the wall is all up Mrs. Horn bill is invisible save for her enormous bill, which sticks out through the mud. Mr. Horn bill feeds this bill just as husbands feed the wives they today immure in steam-heated flats.

Just a Parasite

Wherefore, according to Mrs. Gilman, modern woman is wholly a parasite, since she produces nothing at all.

Did any of the women or few gentlemen in the audience consider for a moment that woman as man's wife was his partner? Mrs. Gilman admonished them to put away that unthinkable thought. Was a servant who worked for board wages a partner? Was a human sewing machine and bread making machine and housekeeping machine a partner just because it went by the name of wife? No. And emphatically no.

Then Mrs. Gilman introduced a similitude of a horse. A horse was a noble animal. It had four legs, one in each corner, and could work. It had a temper of excessive amiability, arched neck and symmetrical limbs and was beautiful.

But was it the partner of man who, having enslaved, owned it? No. Not any more than his wife was, for her labor got such food and raiment as the man chose.

Mrs. Gilman supposed a woman running a machine in a bindery house, with ten [illegible] paying her $[illegible] a week. All went well until the poor woman loved the handsomest mechanic and married him. Being [illegible] to quit his job in the factory and sent the other [illegible] mechanics to another binding house. Query: What did the woman get? Answer: A husband to support. What did she lose? Fifty dollars [illegible] and her independence.

That woman was that man's horse. He measured the oats.

Mrs. Shaw Replies

Mrs. Gilman sat down and Mrs. Shaw took the platform to refute her.

Mrs. Shaw contended that the woman was not supported by the husband because the marital relation is a partnership. As long as the wife keeps the domestic situation in hand the family [illegible]. The husband who [illegible] generally has to shut up his home or else let it run him into the poor house. Mrs. Shaw gave a dozen instances.

But then she slid off at a tangent that held the house breathless. Woman bore man his children, but were they hers? No. In thirty-eight states of the Union they were the husband's outright. In the same number of States the wife wasn't even permitted to own her own clothes. Was this a free country? Was this an enlightened age? Was a country in thirty-eight states of which a woman didn't own her own hairpins, a civilized country or something else?

And although Mrs. Gilman came back and talked some more, and although Mrs. Shaw cited the thirty-eight states once more after Mrs. Gilman had done, the audience, nearly all women, voted: "Resolved, A married woman is not supported by her husband." So there!

He Rolled Away

An Incident of Swell Life at Newport

NEWPORT, R I, Jan 14.—[illegible] of the "peasantry," as those who live in Newport call those who work for a living, got the best of Robert W[illegible] Goelet. He was a newspaper photographer sent to Newport to get pictures [illegible] for the delectation of the middle class [illegible]. The picture [illegible] to be accompanied by jaunty [illegible] the paragraph, with slight attention will be paid to the superiority [illegible] the photographer [illegible] Mr. Goelet [illegible] along [illegible] came along [illegible] the camera [illegible] you [illegible] take a picture of the [illegible] ladies [illegible]

The artist who had previously snapped his machine aloft [illegible] it a fresh wad of films and then absently said, "Huh?"

"I'll break your camera if you dare to use it on our party," said Mr. Goelet.

The camera man, a young person with a fresh colored, rosy face boasting features pronouncedly Celtic, was roused by this threat. "Now, look ee here, Birdie," he said. "You make a noise like a hoop and roll away. If you so much as wiggle your little pink finger at me or my camera I will daintily dab you on the map."

Mr. Goelet went away. That was all there was to it. All that afternoon he [illegible] about the insolence of the lower classes, but he didn't make any loud noise in the hearing of the camera person.

WORK ONCE DONE AT HOME IS NOW DONE IN FACTORY

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—At the Pilgrim Mothers' dinner in New York Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt said that the modern Pilgrim Mother is [illegible] setting up her altar everywhere, even in the little hall bedroom, and that after all nothing can compare with the emancipation of women. Another speaker said that her grandmother spun her three miles of thread a day and that now the granddaughters of such grandmothers spin their stint of 3000 miles a day. This, it was agreed, is the period of adjustment and the women of today earning a living have a harder time than will fall to the lot of women in any other period of the world's history. The women who work for wages are more on an equality with men than the professional women who are still fighting for recognition.

Pastor Called Married Woman His 'M. O. B. Q.'

And Mr. Boynton in Alienation Suit Translates It 'My Own Beautiful Queen'

HERKIMER, N Y, Jan 14.—When the suit of former School Commissioner D N Boynton against the Rev Edwin F Hard for $20,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections comes to trial some peculiar [illegible] will be put in evidence by [illegible] Boynton. Mrs. Boynton is a young woman of independent fortune, being worth $[illegible] in her own right. [illegible] means are extremely moderate.

At the time of the alleged alienation Mr. Hard was pastor of a congregation at Newport, this county, and the Boyntons were members of it. Later Mr. Hard moved to Dunkirk and it was there he was arrested. Such was the feeling against him that even with his wide acquaintance none could be found to go on the $3000 bond required for bail and he had to go to a surety company for it.

Dots and Dashes

In the complaint filed it is alleged that Hard in writing to Mrs. Boynton used in part a sort of code comprising initials and dots and dashes. At the top of one six page letter, undated, was drawn a clock. The letter begins with "My Dear B B" and closes with "Well, my dear little black kittie, you and I won't dispute. Mac."

In another letter dated September [illegible], 1905, the recipient is called "M O B Q" (My Own Beautiful Queen) and "D S H" (Dear Sweet Heart).

"You will never know," it runs, "how much M D S H is to me nor how I long to look into those dear road lights again. They are the stars that have, oh, so often, spoken joy and cheer to my heart. I have certainly never had a doubt of the reality or quality of my attachment for you, but I have come to realize more fully how completely it possesses my whole being."

Then follow a lot of code dots and words, followed by the words "Don't you think so?" Then some peculiar marks and a long dash, followed by "You may have to study awhile on this [illegible] but I wanted to say all this and more to you today, feeling as I do, yet I [illegible] not care to enlighten even a possible outsider, into whose hands you know this might perchance fall."

Didn't Destroy it

In another letter without date, on the paper of the New Cumberland Hotel, Plattsburg, the recipient is addressed as "My Dear Girl" and also by a term in code. The writer says that, being disappointed in business, he has recourse to but one thing that can afford satisfaction, that is a talk with the ministry of all my work." At the bottom of the page he writes: "If ever you fail me, well, that settles all." In the same letter he appoints a date for meeting her on his return from a trip. Further along he writes:

"In my pocketbook is one of my fondest treasures. It is a beautiful face that looks back into mine, only it is silent—a silence eloquent with memories of days and hours when a language uttered all I can ask to hear. I am waiting patiently for the voice again." The letter is signed "Mac," with the admonition "Surely destroy this letter" underscored.

Some of the letters relate to trips by the two into the woods, both being dressed in men's clothing.

"I feel toward him as I would toward any strayed dog in trouble," appears in one letter addressed to Mr Hard and intercepted by Boynton.

Mrs. Boynton owns a camp on the Fulton Chain of Lakes in the Adirondacks, where she spent the summers, the minister being her guest and the husband present when his official duties would permit.

Finds Heiress to $80,000 in a Raid on Chinatown

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—Cora Stratton, once belle of Chinatown, has just inherited an estate in Long Island City worth $80,000. It is said she will give up her old life and go to some place where she may possibly be cured of the cocaine habit. That her lot has been a hard one, is admitted by Mother Todd of the Rescue Mission at 10 Mott street.

"[Cora] is a good girl," said Mother Todd, "and will be happy if she gets away from the old haunts. She has had much to contend with here. Her life story reads like fiction. Indeed a book was once written about her."

Cora Stratton was found [illegible] representative of George F Curtis, a lawyer, [illegible] Wall street [illegible] Mullen's place [illegible] street [illegible]

Reformed for a Time

In 1891, when she was scarcely more than twenty, Cora Stratton was the talk of the Chinese quarter. She was good looking, had a wealth of blond hair and an innocent expression in her [illegible]. But a peculiar [illegible] and the gay Oriental quarter had drawn her [illegible] the [illegible] from a [illegible] She was well educated. Her [illegible] was Symonds.

She forsook Chinatown for a while and lived a model life as the wife of Benjamin Curtell, a wealthy Long Island City landowner. When he died [illegible] years ago she reappeared in her old haunts, and for years has been one of the best known of the women of Chinatown. A couple of years ago she was a clerk in a wholesale drug house, but he went [illegible] last spring on conviction of [illegible] employees of drug [illegible] of [illegible] morphine and cocaine. Of both these drugs Cora has been [illegible] confirmed [illegible].

All the while [illegible] she went to live in a furnished room at 97 B[illegible] place, Brooklyn [illegible] Mrs Ashcroft [illegible]. When it became necessary for lawyers [illegible] Cora [illegible] had considerable difficulty in getting a trace of the widow [illegible]

Caught in Raid

[illegible] Walker, an east side law student, was engaged for the work. He found it difficult to induce those who knew Cora best to give any information as to her whereabouts. They were suspicious of the investigator. Young Walker did not attain the object of his quest until recently and he had talked with Cora for a half hour in Mullen's when the police came.

"She was reluctant to tell me about herself," said Walker, "saying that she did not want to bring further disgrace on her family. She is familiar with all the places in Long Island City I asked her about and I am satisfied she is Benjamin Curtell's widow. When I told Magistrate Krotel in the Night Court that she was an heiress to $80,000 from her dead husband's estate and mentioned Curtell's name she fainted."

BRIDE OF WEEK ROBBED OF WEDDING DRESS

NEW YORK, Jan 14.—It is not expected that Mrs. Robert M Morgan will appear in the Harlem Court when her servant, Miss [illegible], charged with stealing her wedding gown, is examined. The gown was recovered and returned to Mrs. Morgan and she has expressed a desire to drop the charge.

Mrs. Morgan, who was married on Christmas day, left her home, [illegible] West One Hundred and Fifty-first street, on New Year's, accompanied by her husband, to visit friends. Returning she missed her bridal dress, a necklace and a diamond pendant and a gold watch.

Detective O'Brien went to Mrs. Brown's room at [illegible] Amsterdam avenue, where he said he found a check for a parcel at Grand Central Station, which turned out to be Mrs. Morgan's wedding dress. He said also that he found pawn tickets for the missing jewelry.

Mr. Morgan is a broker. He has promised to go to court. When told of the return of his wife's bridal gown, wished to have the charge withdrawn. Magistrate Harris refused.

One Slain, Three Wounded as Result of Attempted Robbery

POLICEMAN KILLED IN FIGHT

DETECTIVE AND ROBBER FATALLY WOUNDED

Terrific Battle on Street Follows Shooting of Woman Who Had Been Robbed of Diamonds.

OMAHA, Neb. Jan. 14.—Patrolman L. A. Smith is dead, Detective W. G. Devereez is fatally injured, Albert Clarke is fatally hurt and Betsy Smith is dangerously shot as the result of an attempt by Clarke to hold up Annie Wilson's place on Ninth street at an early hour today.

Clarke entered the Wilson place and at the point of a revolver commanded the inmates to hold up their hands. At the same moment he snatched a diamond necklace from the neck of the Wilson woman and escaped to the street. Betsy Smith followed him. Clarke fired a shot into her shoulder, inflicting a dangerous wound.

Policeman Shot

Her screams brought Patrolman Smith to the scene. Clarke shot the officer twice. Smith raised himself to a sitting posture and fired twice, one bullet taking effect in Clarke's leg. Clarke escaped.

The shooting occurred two blocks from the police station. A squad of officers immediately began to search for the wounded robber. He was found on the Douglas bridge by Detectives Devereez and Heitfeld. As soon as the officers came up to Clarke he began firing. One bullet struck Devereez in the stomach, mortally wounding him. Detective Heitfeld then shot Clarke twice. At the emergency hospital Clarke said he came from Denver three days ago.

FORMER MEMBER OF BOARD OF HEALTH SUCCUMBS

Dr. Charles C. Shinnick died at Santa Cruz on Monday evening, where he went from this city in November to take up practice there. He came to Oakland eleven years ago from Salt Lake City, Utah, and took the practice of Dr. A. E. Small at Tenth and West streets, the latter going to Fresno. He served one term on the board of health of this city.

Dr. Shinnick was born in or near Cincinnati, O., in 1848 and enlisted at the age of 16 in February, 1864, in the Thirteenth Regiment of Ohio Cavalry Volunteers and served until after the close of the Civil War, being discharged August 25, 1865.

The deceased was a member of Live Oak Lodge No. 61, F. and A. M., and of Lyon Post No. 6, G. A. R. For some years he had been in ill health, but had tried to keep up his practice, having to give up occasionally and go to the springs for rest and recuperation. He suffered from heart and nervous troubles and went to Santa Cruz from Oakland because he was in constant dread of being run down by automobiles.

The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed, awaiting word from relatives in the East. It is understood that he has a brother and two sisters and a widow and two sons surviving him. It is said that his last request was to have the services held under the auspices of Lyon Post.

250 DAYS IN JAIL FOR POOLSELLER

Judge Imposes Maximum Penalty Despite Plea of Defendant's Lawyer.

Henry Gemmell, convicted of selling pools on the Emeryville races, was this morning sentenced to pay a fine of $500 with the alternative of spending 250 days in jail. As the defendant has no money he will have to serve the entire 250 days in jail. He has already been in jail thirty-seven days, which will make the time he will have in jail a year less two and a half months. There is another charge pending against Gemmell.

The defendant is by trade a plumber. He also is an honorably discharged soldier. After his release from the army he worked in the morning but hung around the poolrooms in the afternoon. He got in the habit of betting all of his own money and finally advertised himself as a handicapper to those he met and induced them to bet on the races in the hope that he would suddenly acquire a fortune by sharing the winnings of those he touted."

Pleads for Gemmell

It was while in this occupation he was arrested. Conviction took place a few days ago. He at first was not represented by an attorney, having no money to pay counsel fees. Afterward he secured an attorney, but it was too late for him to make much of a defense. This morning Attorney Thomas Bradley voluntarily appeared for the defendant and argued a motion for a new trial, which was denied. Bradley made an eloquent plea for leniency. He said in part:

"Your honor, the man before you is not the kind that this anti-pool ordinance was passed to catch. He is a licensed plumber by occupation and not a pool seller. Your honor should take into consideration the fact that he will have to serve nearly a year in the damp, dark and foul-smelling hole we call our city jail. He has been in there thirty-seven days already and has lost twenty-five pounds. His health was first impaired while in the service of his country. He is an honorably discharged soldier. He is not a criminal in the true meaning of the word. He was induced to place the bet by two carpet-bagging detectives employed for the purpose of tricking him into a violation of the law."

Maximum Punishment

In pronouncing sentence Judge Samuels said:

"If I were to allow my personal sympathies to dictate what the punishment should be, I would agree with you, Mr. Bradley. This court, however, to be consistent and not to stultify itself, must take into consideration its statement made on December 25 that violators of the law would be given the maximum punishment. Both judges of the police court made an unequivocal statement to warn all offenders to desist and pledged themselves to give the extreme penalty. The object of punishment is two-fold. One to punish the actual offender, and the other to warn others so that a similar fate will not overtake them. It is the judgment of the court that the defendant pay a fine of $500 or be imprisoned in the city prison for a period of 250 days."

The only way Gemmell can evade serving all of his sentence is by being pardoned by the Governor, as his attorney admits there is not sufficient grounds for a new trial.

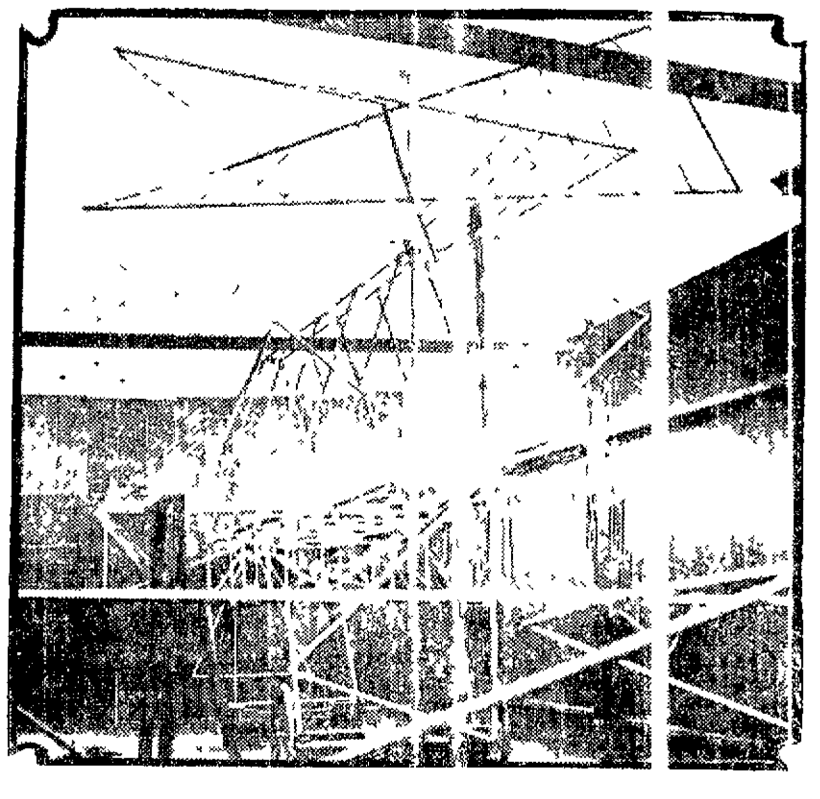
RAILROADS GIVE NOTICE OF RATES FOR COLONISTS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—The old colonist rates of former years will be put into effect during the coming spring to accelerate colonist travel to California. These rates are $5 less than the charges which were made in the colonist season last year. They will be in effect daily during March and April 1909. The Santa Fe and Southern Pacific have notified Chairman Charlton of the Transcontinental Passenger Association to this effect. T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake railroad, says that his road has also joined in the old rates.

NEW AIRSHIP MAY SOLVE ALL AERIAL PROBLEMS



Frame Work of Charles Stanley's New Airship Now in Course of Construction in This City.

> "When I start from the ground it will be auto service in the air. I believe that I have solved the problem of aerial navigation."

Flushed with a forthcoming victory, Charles Stanley thus expresses himself. The air conqueror is now in the process of building at the Union Machine Works, and while the delicate frame is being pieced together the public is barred from witnessing the process of construction.

Great secrecy is observed in the construction of the new machine and only those who have the Ali Baba word are admitted to the presence of the great unknown. Securely hidden under lock and key rests the frame of the airship. In the [illegible] of the Union Machine Works the frame, now nearly completed, rests upon its props awaiting the hour for its [illegible] in its battle with the air.

Self Raising Power

One of the features of the new machine is its claimed self-raising power. The government offer of a premium for an aerial machine of this class is said by those who are experts in flying machines to now have been won by Stanley.

"I can rise in the air without a slide start," says Stanley. "My new machine has the power of lifting itself with its [illegible] without the necessity of outside aid. When I can start from the ground and [illegible] out in the air without a moment's [illegible]."

The direct lift of the new machine is [illegible] the starting point. No machine flying in the air has [illegible] yet proven such [illegible] in this particular. Stanley claims for his new [illegible] an ability of rising from the ground without aid. The peculiar construction of the propellers is one of the strong points of argument. The finely [illegible] blades [illegible] constructed especially to combat the elements.

Propeller's Lifting Capacity

The propellers have a lifting capacity of 1[illegible]00 pounds each, one located in the center of the machine, the other at the [illegible]. [illegible] over all and will cost approximately $[illegible]000. The engine is of 100 horsepower.

Another feature of Stanley's invention is the installing of buoyancy tanks, which are calculated for the protection of the aerial chauffeur in the event of accident above the sea or land. The tanks buoy the machine and thus allow an easy descent. The machine weighs 1[illegible]00 [illegible]. It will require several months to complete the machine and the trial of efficiency will be made by Designer Stanley, who is after the [illegible] million dollars offered for the construction of an air[illegible] of this nature.

Stanley's work with airships is well known about the bay.

J. G. HOWELL COMMITTED TO THE ASYLUM AT NAPA

Having succumbed to the inroads made by old age upon a once active mind, John G. Howell, a pioneer newspaper man of the Pacific coast, was this morning committed to the Napa asylum for the insane by Judge E. J. Brown.

In recent years Howell has led more or less of a stormy life, and it is to brooding over events of the past and the more recent misadventures of one of his daughters that his friends attribute his malady, diagnosed by the examining physicians as senile dementia.

Mrs. Henry Miner, Howell's daughter, was recently divorced from her husband, Dr. Henry Miner, after a sensational trial at Santa Cruz, and it was in behalf of this same daughter that Howell killed Ross Colvin seventeen years ago in this city.

Trial a Great Strain

At that time Colvin was accused by Howell of annoying his daughter and of public utterances derogatory to her. He sought Colvin in his offices on Broadway in Oakland and shot him down. The ensuing trial was a great [illegible]. For a long time he was held in the county jail before and during his sensational trial, and though the jury at length acquitted him without [illegible] the court-room, the affair weighed heavily upon Howell.

Of late he has brooded over his daughter's latest trouble, and at times was plainly suffering from mental aberration. During one such period he attacked his aged wife, and it was thought that he might harm himself or others in his [illegible], so his incarceration was deemed necessary.

Will Be Taken to Napa

Howell was brought to Oakland by his son, who has remained in attendance upon him and will accompany him to Napa today.

Howell, who is seventy-three years old, was the founder of the Healdsburg Enterprise, a publication that he conducted for many years until his removal to Berkeley, where he has since resided.

LANE HEARS SHIPPERS' PROTESTS AGAINST SWITCHING CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—Franklin K. Lane, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, began a hearing in the State Supreme courtrooms today of the case of the Los Angeles Jobbers' Association against the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Salt Lake railroads to determine the question whether these roads have the right to make the switching charge of $2.50 per car for every car switched to the sidings and spur tracks of local shippers.

The Jobbers' Association affirm the railroads collect about $[illegible],000 annually from the merchants of Los Angeles in this manner and that the charge is illegal. It is also contended that with the exception of San Francisco no other cities of importance in the United States are subjected to this charge, and the discrimination is, therefore, alleged.

A suit similar to the one being heard by Commissioner Lane today has been filed in San Francisco by the allied business interests. Attorney Mann, representing the protestants of San Francisco, was present at the hearing today to watch the progress of the present action.

It was expected that the case would require two or three days in hearing. More than a hundred witnesses have been summoned by the Jobbers' Association. Tariff managers and attorneys for all railroads interested were on hand today at 10 o'clock when the hearing began.

MAN IS SEVERELY INJURED BY TRAIN

Crashes Into Hack He Occupies, at the Washington Street Crossing.

James Jones, a bartender at Martin's saloon, [illegible] Thirteenth street, was struck by a train this morning and sustained injuries that may prove fatal.

The accident occurred about 2 o'clock. Jones was in a hack—also driven by a man named Jones—and was crossing Seventh street at Washington when the Seventh street local train from the pier ran into the hack.

Jones was thrown out of the vehicle. He was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and taken to the Emergency Hospital. His back was badly injured and his face cut and bruised. He also sustained internal injuries, but how severe remains to be seen. The superficial hurts were treated and Jones was removed to Providence Hospital.

At the Emergency Hospital Jones had frequent hemorrhages. He was unable to tell anything about how the accident occurred and the driver, who was looking in another direction, knew no more about it than did Jones.

As there is often someone in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep a case of Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why they cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and prevent at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion with the common every-day cures advertised, that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest, instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which will putrefy in the entire digestive tract and intestines and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

One candy-like Triangule, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

WOULD-BE ROBBER CAUGHT; BREAKS JAIL SAME NIGHT

FRUITVALE, Jan. 14.—J. L. Trowbridge, a dope fiend of San Leandro, who was arrested last night by Constable J. J. Becker on suspicion of being implicated in the attempted robbery at the residence of Buck McKee of Washington street near Fruitvale avenue, battered down the door of the Fruitvale jail this morning and effected his escape. A posse is on his trail.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning McKee surprised a man at work at his front door. Getting a shotgun he would have killed the intruder, but before he could load the weapon the would-be robber escaped.

Constable Becker saw the man on the street and arrested him as a suspicious character. After the arrest McKee told Becker of the attempted robbery and the arrested man was recognized as the one wanted. That was at 4 o'clock this morning.

The man effected his escape between this hour and 6 o'clock, at which time Jailer Quigley noticed his absence. The heavy lock of the inner cell door was broken out and the alleged robber made his escape through a window in the back alley. Quigley was not even aware that he harbored a prisoner, as Deputy Constable Becker had locked the man up with a duplicate key, which he carried, without notifying the jail keeper.

Spegle, a promoter who formerly had offices in the Hibernia building. Kelleher and Spegle have known each other for some time and the tailor thought nothing of it when asked to cash a note for $125. CITY HALL TOWER IS OBJECTIONABLE

Residents of Berkeley Claim it Mars Beauty of New Building

BERKELEY, Jan. 14.—Strenuous efforts are being made by a large number of citizens to have the tower which is now being erected on the new City Hall of Berkeley, and nearly completed, torn down, as it is claimed that it detracts from the beauty and dignity of the building. A petition, liberally signed, have been forwarded to the Board of Trustees, asking that the tower be dispensed with and stating the reasons for the objection to the erection.

Petition May Be Denied

The movement is an interesting one, as the trustees in their extensive deliberation over the aesthetic beauty and expense of the building, have removed and replaced the tower six separate times in the plan before and since the actual construction of the building proper commenced. It is thought probable that the petition will be denied on account of the expense of removing the tower from the building and so changing the plans.

CO-EDS STIR IRE OF COLLEGE MEN

Women Accused of Destroying Traditions, Attacked by Editor.

BERKELEY, Jan. 14.—Coed rights is bound to be an issue at the University of California, and not content with demanding a place on the staff of the Daily Californian and making other inroads upon the privileges of men students, the university women are accused of infringing sacred traditions of the university. Last year the question arose of disfranchising the women students in the Associated Students' Body, leaving the right to vote in that organization the exclusive right of the men. It is feared by some of the undergraduates that a counter move may be made this year, with an attempt on the part of the women to disfranchise the men.

Masculine Prerogative

The editor of the Daily Californian, William J. Hayes, who is also president of the senior class and of the Newman Club, takes exception to a new transgression of the masculine prerogatives in the following editorial:

"Apparently some of our sisters in the University are not aware of the fact that there is a North Hall steps tradition and that for generations past custom has given over to the men the exclusive use of the south entrance on the east side of the building. Either they do not know or they are deliberately defying precedent, but it is more charitable to suppose the former assumption to be true."

The Great Fer-Don's

European Bloodless Surgeons in Oakland Curing the Hopeless Sick for Very Moderate Fees.

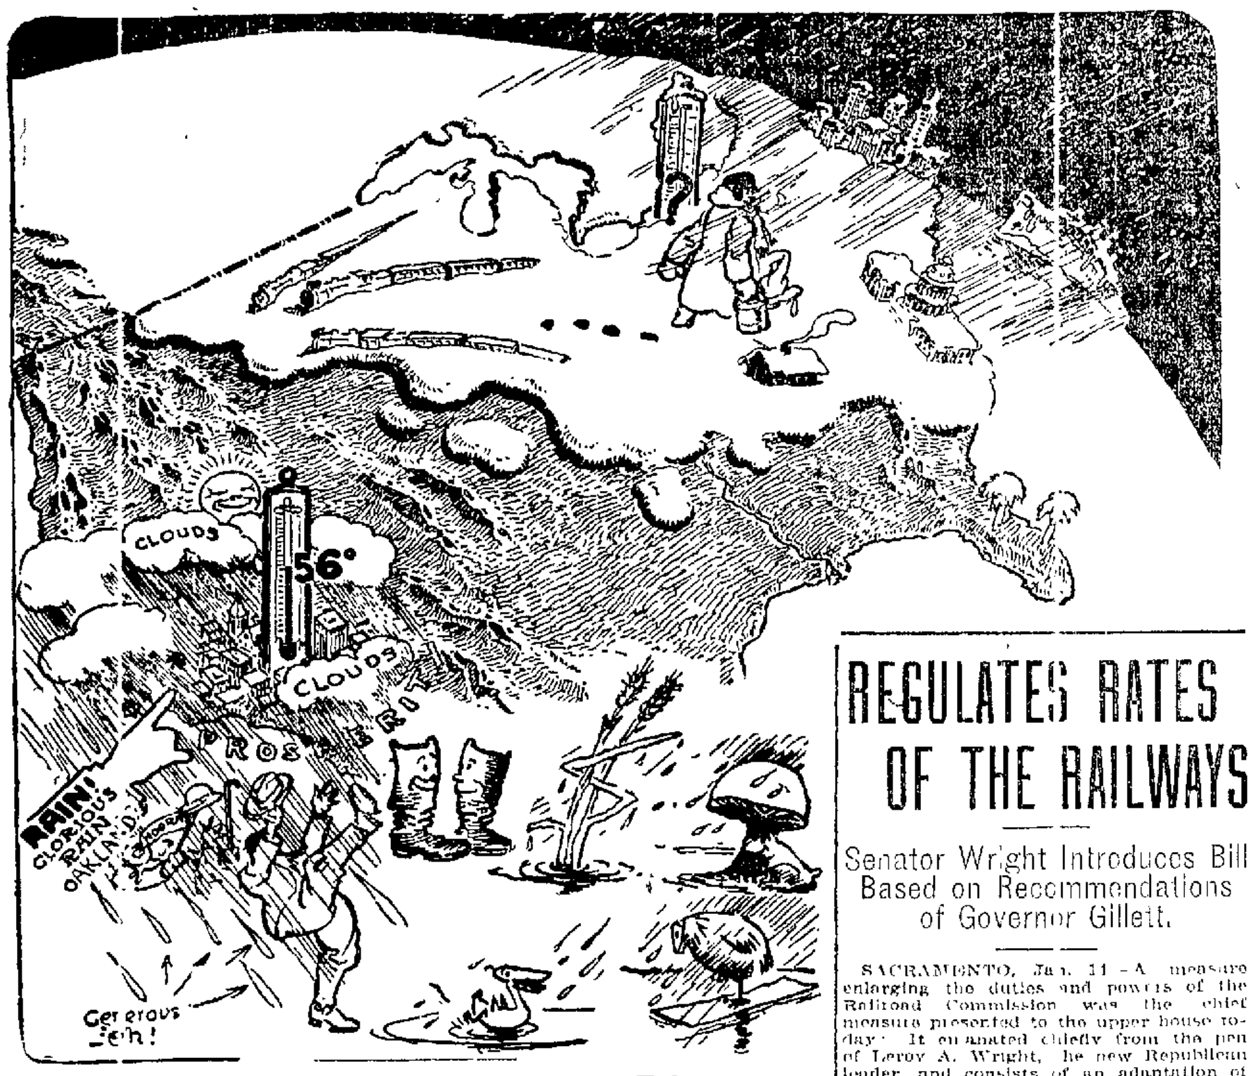
A most miraculous case, one that is a credit to the Great Fer-Don, is the case of Mr. [illegible] Linfel's little daughter, whose picture is shown above and who has been known as "The Elmhurst Blind Girl."

The family live in Sunnyside street, in the Oakland suburb, and in talking with the happy mother she said: "My little child has been blind for some time, unable to see a thing. Doctors examined her and wanted to operate. I would not consent to it. I brought her to the European experts and they treated her. Found the seat of the trouble, a clot on the optic nerve. She can now see as well as you or I."

No case is accepted by Fer-Don's medical experts where a cure cannot be perfected, and the honesty of purpose is proven by their refusal to accept any case where it is found they cannot perfect a cure.

No exorbitant fees are asked, merely the nominal charge of $1.00 gives one a thorough examination and consultation with these wonderful men.

Warm Rain in the West, with Plenty of Snow and Zero Weather the Other Side of Rockies.



HEAVY, WARM RAIN DRENCHES STATE, ASSURING GOOD CROPS

STOCKTON, Jan. 14.—Weather Forecaster Taylor sent the following flood warning from Sacramento at 11:20 to Stockton: Heavy rains headwaters Calaveras and throughout San Joaquin valley; there is grave danger to Stockton and vicinity from both slough and river."

Mormon channel broke through levees above Linden early this morning and this water will flow into the Sacramento river.

Gold Dredger No 3, which had been working in the bed of the river, was wrecked today by the high water, and is a total loss. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Twenty launches of the Sacramento Boat Club broke their moorings during the night on account of the high water in the Sacramento and were swept down stream. It is expected all will be wrecked.

Los Angeles Wet

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—A drizzling rain continues to fall over Southern California, to the benefit to crops of all kinds. The precipitation for the season is 5 41 inches, as against 2 78 last year. Intermittent showers and clearing is the prediction for today and tomorrow.

Seven Inches Fall in Night

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Reports received at the weather bureau at Sacramento are that a heavy, warm rain has been falling in the Sierras, especially where the snow is deepest. It is predicted that there will be a very considerable rise in the Sacramento, Feather, Yuba and American rivers. At Blue Canyon it rained seven inches during the night, the heaviest fall known there. The Southern Pacific reports several small landslides on the Sacramento division, but trains are moving with but little delay.

It is raining hard today at all points in the Sacramento Valley.

Rain in San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Jan 14.—Rain fell yesterday and all night, ceasing this morning.

Dry at Stockton

STOCKTON, Jan. 14.—There was no rain hereabouts during the night, and reports from the waterways east of Stockton are to the effect that the water is falling this morning. The wind has been blowing furiously the past twelve hours, and another storm is approaching. Unless the storm should be one of unusual proportions, however, it is believed there will be no danger of an inundation.

Crops Assured

SAN JOSE, Jan. 14.—Santa Clara Valley has never experienced a more satisfactory storm than that which has prevailed here for some days past. The rain has fallen gently, but steadily, and that nearly every drop has gone into the ground is evidenced by the fact that there is very little water in the streams. It has been a warm rain, and therefore all the more beneficial. Crops of all kinds are now assured, with the usual spring rains, and prospects throughout the valley were never more gratifying. Light rain, with a south wind, still continues.

Heavy Rainfall

REDDING, Jan. 14.—Heavy rain, accompanied by a high wind, has prevailed here since last evening. An inch and a half of water fell during the night. The season's rainfall to date is 21.41 inches. Last season it was 16 25 inches. The river is rising rapidly, but no damage is threatened. The storm is more severe farther north. It began in Siskiyou county yesterday morning. No snow fall is reported in this section.

Yuba River up

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 14.—A heavy rain fell all last night and this morning, accompanied by a strong south wind. The Yuba river is higher than it was last week and now registers twenty feet six inches above the low water mark. The Feather river is twenty feet above low water and both streams are still rising. The levees can easily stand a rise of eight feet more before danger need be feared.

The bridges of the Southern Pacific are in some danger. The precipitation for the season up to 11 o'clock today was 9:50 inches, with indications of more.

REGULATES RATES OF THE RAILWAYS

Senator Wright Introduces Bill Based on Recommendations of Governor Gillett.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—A measure enlarging the duties and powers of the Railroad Commission was the chief measure presented to the upper house today. It emanated chiefly from the pen of Leroy A. Wright, the new Republican leader, and consists of an adaptation of the interstate commerce law to the needs of the State. Wright's bill follows in general the suggestions laid down in Governor Gillett's biennial message regarding railroad regulation, but it is not so drastic and is not likely to provoke much opposition from the milder railroad element.

Like Elkins Act

It is like the Elkins act in making rebates unlawful, but omits the clause which punishes disobedience by imprisonment. All that can be imposed for rebating is a $5000 fine for each offense. The bill does not define the term "each offense," and Wright has promised to introduce an auxiliary measure making the shipment of each carload of rebated goods punishable by the full amount of the fine, according to the ideas of Judge Lindsay in the Standard Oil case.

Senator Miller, who is out to fight for a mutual demurrage law, will object to the Wright bill because it leaves to the Railroad Commission the duty of seeing that shippers are supplied with cars.

Mrs. Moore, Formerly Mrs. Charles Higgins, Killed in New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 14.—In a fire that destroyed the residence of Samuel Higgins, general manager of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, here yesterday, his mother, Mrs. Moore, lost her life, his sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Corbin, was probably fatally hurt, and his wife, his daughter Isabel, his young son and Higgins himself barely escaped death by jumping from a second story.

Suffers Broken Legs

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins suffered broken legs. The young son, Harold, escaped without injury. A colored cook jumped from a third-story window, but was saved from serious injury by two police officers, who interposed their bodies and broke her fall. The cause of the fire, it is said, was an overheated furnace.

Higgins a Native Son

Samuel Higgins is a native of San Francisco, born in 1860, a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School, Yale. He entered the railroad business as a mechanic in the shops of the Erie. He rose to be assistant superintendent of motive power on the Lehigh Valley, remaining for seven years. He held similar positions on the Union Pacific for a year and then went to San Francisco as superintendent of motive power of the Southern Pacific Railroad. He resigned in 1904 to accept the general managership of the New York, New Haven & Hartford.

Mrs. Moore Known Here

Mrs. Moore was well known in San Francisco and Oakland. She was the grandmother of George C. Hornemann, of this city. Mrs. Moore had many friends here, because in early days she owned one of the largest homes in San Francisco and entertained on an extensive scale. She counted among her friends legions of the pioneers who will recall her best as Mrs. Charles Higgins, whose husband was a member of the firm of Prescott, Higgins & Co., which firm was later merged into the Union Iron Works.

ROOSEVELT TAKES STRENUOUS RIDE

Covers Ninety-Eight Miles in 17 Hours and 10 Minutes and Finishes Fresh.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Roosevelt made a famous ride yesterday over stocks and stones from Washington to Warrenton, Va., a distance of ninety-eight miles as the crow flies.

The President was accompanied by Captain Archie Butt, his military aide, Dr. Cary M. Rayson and Rear Admiral horses. The President got back at 8:40 p. m. He said that the distance covered was ninety-eight miles, the start having been made at 3 30 a. m. He said that the last thirty miles were covered in sleet and rain and the last fifteen in darkness.

The start was made on Roswell and the return to the White House made on Roswell. The second horse used was Georgia. The other animals used were army horses. The President said that the object of the trip was to show how unwarranted was the criticism of his orders that officers should ride ninety-eight miles in three days.

GRANTS DIVORCE TO MRS. JURGENS

Judge Waste yesterday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Virginia Jurgens in her suit for divorce against William C. Jurgens. The Jurgens dispute has been pending for some time, and has created considerable discussion because of the social prominence of Mr. and Mrs. Jurgens. The grounds for divorce were found in cruelty, ugly names, which were applied by Jurgens to his wife, and to the intemperance of the head of the family.

William C. Jurgens is secretary of the Winedale Company, and a son of Charles Jurgens, the well-known capitalist.

SENATE BILLS PILE UP AND SOME ARE IMPORTANT

Pawnbrokers and State Commerce Involved

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Senate bills introduced called for appropriations to the extent of $67,500. The amounts are divided as follows:

To pay the claim of Ed W. Lehner, W. L. Ward and H. S. G. McCartney for service on the tax commission, $6000; for the pathological laboratory at Whittier, $6500, for sewers in the California redwood park, $5000; to improve the channel of the Petaluma river, $50,000.

Amends School Law

A bill introduced by Senator Birdsall amends a school law provision by allowing a trustee in districts of under seventy pupils to do work on the school house and receive compensation for it. As the law now stands, it is a felony for the trustee to receive moneys directly or indirectly from the school district he represents.

The development of the eucalyptus industry and the promise it makes as one of the leading features of the State's commerce, led Senator Thompson to introduce a bill providing for an appropriation of $5000 to allow the University of California to carry on an investigation of the tree.

To Regulate Pawnbrokers

Senator Kennedy introduced two bills that will tend to decrease illegal traffic among pawnbrokers. One prescribed that in case bullion gold is purchased the pawnbroker must keep a register having the amount bought and the name and address of the seller. The other provides for the issuance of a search warrant in case the record of gold known to have been sold cannot be found.

Senator Rush introduced a bill declaring rodent infested premises to be a public nuisance. The bill provides that such a building, dock, or ship must immediately be ridden of all rats or they will be condemned by the board of health. In case no action is taken agents of the State board of health are authorized to cleanse the place, eradicate the vermin and charge up the costs to the owner.

To Localize Interstate Laws

Another railroad measure was added to an already long list by Senator Wright, who wants to make the Interstate Commerce laws of the United States applicable to commerce carried on within the State.

A bill introduced by Stetson in the Senate provides that a tax deputy shall be appointed to aid the State Controller. It will be his duty to go about the State co-operating with the district attorneys, assessors and tax collectors of the various counties in preventing any evasion of the laws by tax-dodgers. His salary is to be $2000.

Are doctors good for anything?
Foolish question! Yet some people act as if a medicine could take the place of a doctor! The best medicine in the world cannot do this. Have a family doctor, consult him frequently. If we did not believe doctors endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds, we would not offer it to you.

SPECIAL SPECIAL

NURSERIES CONDUCTED BY THE JAPANESE AMONG THE LARGEST IN THE STATE

Visitors from the Sunny, Southern Clime, and the Floral Centers of the Tropical Countries of the Old World, Surprised At the Wealth and Prolific Nature of Alameda County's Nurseries and Agree that Everything in the Plant and Vegetable Kingdom May be Found Right Here at Home.

Take a trip, either in n automobile or electric car, just be nd Fruitvale and to the eastern boundary of Alameda county, one catch sight of the conservatories and nurseries of the Japanese people, and, if near enough, the delicious odor fr the fresh flowers and plants will noticed.

Alameda county is a favorite spot to grow almost anything and the keen, alert and progressive panese nurserymen have not been ow in taking advantage of it.

They are painstaking nd tasteful in the selection and planti of the right kind of seeds and flow s and go to considerable expense in ringing them to a high state of cultiv tion.

Many of the Japane are experienced florists and gard ers, acquired through years of tuitio in their own country, and are conti ually adding new species of plants o those formerly produced exclusively in the United States. Acres upon acres of once barren land, in the eastern part of this county, are now devoted to this industry, and some of the larger firms do a large wholesale business with other counties and States.

The Japanese florists in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley have an abundance of late, fresh flowers.

Their prices for rich decorations are within the reach of all, whether the wealthy or the poor.

Probably no people in this country are more courteous and obliging than the Japanese, and no place is as open to inspection and invitation as one conducted by them. They can be depended upon to sell exactly the article purchased or desired, and if the adult wishes something he or she can send a child without any fear of them substituting an inferior article.

TILLMAN INQUIRY IS NOT FAVORED

Senators of Opinion That There Is No Question Before Senate for Such.

WASHINGTON Jan 14—Senators who have given consideration to the demand made by Senator Tillman for an investigation by the Senate of the charges made by President Roosevelt in connection with the Senator's attempt to purchase Oregon lands incline to the opinion that there is no question before the Senate for an inquiry except as to whether Mr Tillman was frank with his colleagues in discussing the case

The opinion is held generally that even if the charges made by the President were true the act of Mr Tillman was not a violation of the law

Just before going into the Senate chamber yesterday Senator Tillman called Attorney General Bonaparte on the telephone and asked him whether he had brought suit against the Southern Oregon company which holds land grants for military roads from Roseburg to Coos Bay This is the land comprising over 000 000 acres of which Senator Tillman at one time contemplated purchasing at $ 0 per acre about 400 acres for himself members of his family and others

Senator Tillman later received a reply to his inquiry He declined to make the communication public yesterday saying he would read it and comment upon it in the Senate today

LANGFORD AND JOHNSON MAY MEET IN LONDON

Schedule of Games for St. Mary's College ‖ Spicy Racing Gossip From Emeryville

GREAT COLORED FIGHTERS MAY MEET IN LONDON RING

National Sporting Club After Langford-Johnson Match---Lercaro Signs Murphy and Powell for Main Event.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

NEWS that will be very sweet for the ears of Stanley Ketchel has reached us. Sam Langford and Jack Johnson are to fight for the championship of the world in London May 24, which is Derby week. We all had hopes of Langford and Ketchel fighting it out before the black boy got away from the coast, and we were nursing him along for just that reason.

It's a long time between now and the middle of March, which is the scheduled time for the fighter and his manager to leave here, however, and there is still some chance of the black boy and Ketchel being matched for Washington's birthday.

Langford is willing, and all that is necessary for the promoter to get him is to place the articles before him for his signature. Jimmy Coffroth would like to handle that contest and is quietly working on it all time, although he has little hope of securing it by the 22d of February.

Britt and Ketchel have signed for many weeks in the theatrical business, and it may be that these engagements will keep them from coming to the coast in time to make a match for Washington's birthday.

More Money Here

The purse money hung up by the National Sporting Club for the Johnson-Langford contest is said to be $10,000, of which $7,500 should go to the winner and $2500 to the loser. Now the one thing that we have a chance to hold the Ketchel-Langford bout on is the money it will draw and if Willie Britt will come through and signify a willingness to send his white fighter after the Boston black, even if it be on the Fourth of July, we feel satisfied that Manager Woodman will allow the London fight with Jack Johnson to go by the board.

When Jackson and Langford met in their 15-round contest in which Johnson was given the decision, Woodman claimed that had the route been five rounds longer his fighter would have won the decision, and for that reason he feels that with twenty rounds to go, over in London, it is just possible that he may soon have the combined middleweight and heavyweight champion of the world under his care.

Whether or not Johnson has accepted the offer to go to England and fight Sam Langford we are at a loss to know, but it has been given out that Jack would come home by the England route, and the fact that the National Club officials are wiring for Langford to come over is taken that Johnson must have already signed articles for the contest.

Jeffries' Work

Did you say that you thought Jeffries would have a snap getting that $3,000 which the management of the Wigwam Theater is giving him for one week of boxing? Well, he won't, and it is well he knows it, for he will be required to do twenty-two shows during the week.

Jeffries is to open Sunday afternoon, and as the Wigwam shows four times on Sunday he will be requested to do four shows the first day out. Jeff was signed under the regular Wigwam contract, which calls for the regular number of performances and it will be up to he and Sam Berger to make good

The first week in the show business should quicken Jeff's eye considerably, and he will no doubt show some great improvement before he has finished out the engagement, which, after all, will act as a sort of preliminary training.

Papke His Own Manager

Billy Papke is his own manager and will, from now on, look after his own affairs. Billy Papke has been matched to fight Jim Flynn at Los Angeles in a long-distance contest. These two dispatches following one another very rapidly out of Hot Springs might lead some people to believe that Papke was a smart fellow, but after making such a match as the Flynn one he had better sign up with a manager immediately or stay away from the boxing game.

In the first place Flynn will outweigh Papke fifteen pounds and is a rough, tough fellow that can take a good walloping under anything like even chances. Papke in making the match has sort of laid himself open to pugilistic suicide, for to be beaten by Flynn at this time, so soon after that party was humbled in two minutes by Sam Langford, would forever make him a dead one. Had Mr. Papke looked the ground over for a bad match for himself he could hardly have chosen a worse one, although it is only fair to say that he has a royal chance of winning.

Welsh and Attell Tonight

Freddie Welsh and Abe Attell meet tonight at Goldfield under the direction of Tex Rickard and with Eddie Graney as the referee. The contest has created little or no enthusiasm, for Weeks has done nothing that would tend to show that he ever had a chance with Attell, and only one year ago the Hebrew put him away in four rounds at Los Angeles; and as you know, any one that Attell can put away in four rounds is not much of a fighter.

Abe has been said to have gone back and Weeks to have improved since then, but in our opinion Attell could go back 50 per cent and still be able to beat fighters of the Weeks type with ease.

Puzzle—If Abe Attell fought and beat Freddie Weeks in Los Angeles in four rounds, how long will he allow him to stay and what kind of a showing will he allow the Colorado fighter to make in his contest of tonight?

Ketchel and O'Brien

Word has come that Stanley Ketchel and Jack O'Brien will meet in a six-round contest at Philadelphia some time next month. Well, we are at least glad that the affair is to be held at Philadelphia, where the fans evidently like to be treated as O'Brien has treated them.

Let us go on record right now, however, as saying that there is to be no follow-up match held in San Francisco if we have anything to say about it. O'Brien may make a good showing in six rounds and may convince Ketchel that it would be a good idea to pull a little in order that the pair might meet in San Francisco in a longer contest; but there are thousands who will object to this wholesale thief making his reappearance in the land of sunshine (Joke for the present), and the storm of protest that will be raised will keep any of the promoters in fear of taking a chance.

Murphy and Powell

Promoter Charlie Lercari yesterday signed Johnny Murphy and Lew Powell for the main event of his show for this month. Murphy and Powell have met three times and in each of the battles the going has been fast and furious. Twice the men met at the West Oakland Club in six-round battles and once in a twenty-round affair in San Francisco. Murphy won one and the other two were draws.

Bay Cities League Is Made Member of P. A. A.

The Bay Cities League made application last night through its representatives, George Fraser, A. Coffin and J. Maxwell, to admission in the ranks of the Pacific Athletic Association and after a lengthy discussion, in which assurances were given by the delegates that the members composing the various teams would be registered athletes and subject to the scrutiny of the registration committee, the league was allowed membership. Fraser and James, the latter the new president of the league, made strong declarations that the different nines would confine themselves to players of strictly amateur standing, and they found a strong supporter in Graduate Manager Ralph Merritt of the University of California, who argued for an amateur league as it gave the college players a chance to play during the summer without putting themselves in a questionable light.

C. E. Davis was elected as a representative of the Reliance Club and Brother Joseph participated in the affairs of the body as delegate from St. Mary's College.

Stanford Athletic Brevities

Dean Witter, captain of the California crew last year, is busy in the East negotiating with Eastern boatbuilders for two new eight-oared shells for Stanford and California. The new boats will be exactly alike, thus making the annual regatta a trial of skill only.

* * *

Coach Presley announces that little actual practice would be made for the coming Wallabies game, as the men have been in training for such a long time that further work would not be advisable. It is probable that ten days before the match the men will be put through passing and running practice.

* * *

The members of the women's basketball and tennis teams who play for Stanford against California in the coming intercollegiate contests will be awarded watch fobs by the Women's Athletic Association. The souvenirs for the basketball girls will be a silver seal in the form of a basketball, with a red enamel "S" in the center. The tennis players will receive small gold racquet pins with the "S."

* * *

The outlook for a successful baseball team this year is brighter than it has been for some years. A large number of new men are expected to sign up for the early practice tomorrow afternoon. Coach Presley and Captain Sampson predict a successful year.

Phoenix and Universities Baseball Schedule Settled

Coach Tom Feeney, with Brother Joseph of St. Mary's College, have completed the full baseball schedule with Stanford and the University of California for the coming season. Fifteen games in all will be played with the two institutions, eight with the Cardinals, and seven with the Blue and Gold. To Select All-Star Rugby Fifteen

A meeting will be called tomorrow evening by the Pacific Coast Rugby Referees' Union, attended by representatives of the University of California, Stanford University, Olympic Club and Barbarians, for the purpose of selecting an "All-American rugby team to play the Wallaby fifteen of Australia, who are due here next month.

A selection committee, probably consisting of one representative from each of these colleges and clubs, with a member of the Referees' Union, will be named by the meeting, and at the conclusion of the open meeting this committee will choose a squad to go into training.

Kalois Basket Ball Team Victorious

The California College of East Oakland was treated to a great surprise yesterday when their crack basketball team was taken into camp by the Kaloikagathi Club team—Ploebus! what a name—of St. Anthony's parish. The score stood 21 to 17. Millett and Knapp of the Kalois played a great game, as did Hanley and Lacey. A feature was a throw made by Johnny Budd of the Kalois when he netted a goal from more than half the length of the field.

Stanford Fifteen Is Considering Trip To Australia

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 14.—The most pressing proposition on all present at the cardinal school is whether a trip should be taken during the summer months to Australia and New Zealand for a series of Rugby football matches. It is practically up to the players to decide, and so far the majority of them are in a quandary just what to do. Some are most anxious to meet the teams in the Antipodes, others declare they have to earn money during the vacation to pay for their education. Manager J. E. Stewart of the student body in the meanwhile is compiling the details of the journey and writing to the Australia Rugby Union regarding the financial arrangements. He expects a reply shortly.

Vancouver Offers Invitation

The opportunity to make such an extended trip comes to Stanford through Vancouver, who are unable to go, as most all are engaged in business.

Reggie Woodward, manager of the Vancouver team, turned the invitation over to Manager Stewart of Stanford, who immediately wrote to the athletic authorities of Australia. A meeting of the men of the Cardinal team will be held to determine the will of the players.

Captain D. P. Crawford said yesterday that he did not know what action would be taken by the players, but stated that the proposals would be thoroughly discussed from every angle.

Dreamland Club Has Classy Card

Dreamland Rink should be the scene of some hair-raising scraps on Friday evening, when Frank Schuler turns loose his army of amateur talent for their respective bouts. He has selected this month's card from the pick of the younger tribe from both sides of the bay and is banking on repeating the splendid show he put on last month, when eight knockouts were recorded in as many contests.

Roscoe Taylor, the Seattle cyclone, who has been setting the fans to thinking by his clever fights during the past three months, is carded to box Louis Hahn, the clever representative of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, and the latter is touted to give the northern lad a hard rub for the trophy. In his tryout Hahn convinced the onlookers that he is possessed of good material and he bids fair to make the Seattle youth travel as he never did before. Taylor has won all his fights via the K. O. route and says Hahn will fall by the wayside just as the others did.

Elephantine Heavy-Weights

Charles Miller and Nick Sanders, the elephantine heavyweights, are reported to be in the finest possible shape for their bout, which should be a corker while it lasts. Both men scale around the 230-pound mark and each has proven that he is game. Sanders is the idol of the Slavonian contingent across the bay and they will back him to a man to drop the husky German mitt artist.

Tony Silva, the Reliance Club's promising youngster, is billed to oppose Eddie Matron. Both these boys have fought the way to the top of their class and should put up a rattling bout

The cards looks to be a good one on paper and the fans should get a good run for their money. The remainder of the card is as follows: Will McShane vs. Jack Goldberg, George O'Brien vs. Harry Smith, Morris Sweeney vs. Harry Price, Tom Ryan vs. Al Kreiger, Jim Lucy vs. Eddie Lynch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Ray C. Ewry, world's champion standing high and broad jumper, is seriously ill at his home in Bayonne, N. J. He became sick soon after his return from Europe after competing successfully in the Olympic games. Kidney trouble developed.

GILBERT ROSE SCORES ANOTHER EASY VICTORY

O. A. Bianchi's Crack Youngster Makes It Four Straight; Jacobite Takes High-Class Selling Race.

BY LEE DEMIER.

OSWALD BIANCHI'S undefeated two-year-old, Gilbert Rose, scored his fourth successive victory when he scampered home in the third race at Williams Park this afternoon. This crack youngster gives every evidence of becoming the Colin of California. While the two-year-olds [illegible] he has beaten have not shown themselves speed marvels, he has won his races so easily and has never been called upon to extend himself to dispose of the fields he has conquered. Yesterday afternoon the [illegible] gelding shot to the front and was never in trouble coming home under a pull. Tipster ran a nice race from a poor beginning and outgamed Pezor, a new starter, for the place.

Erbert, at all times favorite, reveled in the going and made a show of the cheap bunch which splashed through the slop in the opening scramble. At the end the Herbert colt was only galloping seven lengths in advance of Confessor. The [illegible] ning on gamely an[illegible] peeped.

Serenade performed another acrobatic feat and upset calculation in the second. Neal's filly set a merry clip from the start and tiptoed her [illegible] all the way, winning under wraps at the end. St. Avon finished very fast under punishment and took place money from the fast tiring Little Siss. [illegible] to Russell ran a very poor race.

Jacobite, played at post time as if the race was over, made good in decisive style on his many backers. The Ellison [illegible] left the post in none too advantageous position, gradually overtook the leaders and left them as if they were [illegible]. Madman set a fast pace until challenged, then chucked it up to be second. Trois Temps saved the show.

Dainty Belle ran right back to her last [illegible] and had everything [illegible] the fifth race [illegible] lying to keep pace with her. Katie Powers, a rank outsider, grabbed the place from the heavily played good thing, Tomasco.

* * *

Sam Hildreth's colt, Ace of Diamonds, [illegible] the sixth event in a gallop from [illegible]. The latter set the pace to the [illegible] furlong, where he [illegible] badly and lasted long enough to get the place from the fast coming Meshtulla, who [illegible] fast under Keogh's vigorous ride. Moorish King, the second choice, away badly, had a rough trip.

* * *

The following dispatch that was flashed over the wires this morning will gladden the hearts of the many New York racing fans who are at present on the coast:

Although the New York Jockey Club, which holds its meeting today, is threatened by recent decisions of the courts interpreting the Agnew-Hart law, there will be no mistaking yesterday the spirit of optimism that prevailed. Racing last year was conducted under disadvantageous conditions and great loss, but this year there is an unmistakable uplifting.

The Westchester Racing Association, which is the Belmont Park organization, proposes to go right ahead and has scheduled its $25,000 Belmont, Withers and Matron, its Nursery and Ladies, its Whitney Memorial, International Champion and Harbor Hill. [illegible] will race on the magnificent course at Queens, and its meeting, while possibly not of the duration of other years, will [illegible] all essentials, be as brilliant.

The Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay, it was said last night, would follow suit, racing [illegible] every obligation, and in the Brooklyn Jockey Club room yesterday Philip J. Dwyer said the old Gravesend course would be open as usual to horsemen and patrons.

Ole Hanson's anti racing gambling bill was introduced in both houses of the Washington State Legislature yesterday. The bill is designed to make wagering on horse races or selling pools a felony punishable by not less than one year or more than three years in a penitentiary. Aside from prohibiting [illegible] of selling and book making the measure provides that the owner or lessee of a course in which bets are made commits a felony.

A dispatch from New Orleans says by the vote of 1600 out of a possible 2000 shares the passing into liquidation of the Crescent City Jockey Club was decided yesterday afternoon. All foreign stockholders were represented, and it was their vote that decided the issue. The Crescent City Club last year expended in cash more than $1,060,000.

The thoroughbred is a most useful horse when broken to harness. The winner of the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase last year, Rubio, had been driven to harness and hunted and made use of in many ways, but this did not prevent him from winning the greatest of chases.

Maskette, winner of the Futurity, has developed into one of the grandest fillies ever seen in this or any other country and her three-year-old form should eclipse her two-year-old, if any dependence may be placed in looks. She has filled out wonderfully since being thrown out of training and is the most admired horse on Long Island. Maskette was an impressive filly in training, but she will surprise horsemen when she is sent back to the races this year. This filly has several rich engagements for the coming season, and will be a three-year-old well qualified to beat the best of the colts she will be called upon to meet.

A strange story sent out from Memphis and given recognition in some quarters, to the effect that the Interstate News company, which has supplied results and other information in poolrooms in the South and the Middle West since the Western Union abandoned the service, will transmit bets made at the Suburban to cities where bookmakers may operate, thus making a "long distance betting system," is denied in no uncertain terms by those behind the New Orleans meeting. Individual betting will be countenanced, not being forbidden by the Locke Law, but that is all.

JASTRO MERELY DENOUNCED THE U. S. SECRET SERVICE

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 14.—H. A. Jastro, superintendent of the Kern County Land Company, denies he used an offensive epithet in the Bakersfield club episode Monday.

"I was speaking of the secret service men used to ferret out Senator Tillman's letters and I never mentioned the name of Roosevelt," said he. "McWilliams apparently misunderstood me when he resented the alleged insult. I merely denounced the secret service men."

Jastro's denial is verified by several of the party at the table.

CRUSADERS AGAINST WHITE PLAGUE TO MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—San Francisco Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis will hold its first annual meeting tonight in the California Club house, 1750 Clay street. Miss Elizabeth Ashe has offered the use of the dispensary in connection with the Telegraph Hill Neighborhood Association at 1734 Stockton street, and this will be open to the public next Monday morning. In the very near future, however, there will be a permanent housing place for patients, and this has been made possible partly by the free gift of land on Jackson street, between Polk and Van Ness, where a building is to be erected as soon as possible. Its plans are being drawn by J. J. Bakewell, and will provide for a dispensary and other necessary rooms. It will cost between $1500 and $2000.

MILTON BURDETTE ROOT SUCCUMBS TO APOPLEXY

Milton Burdette Root, well-known in Oakland and vicinity, was stricken with apoplexy at his home, 1291 Alice street, after a trip to town Tuesday afternoon, and passed away shortly afterward. Drs. Hamlin and Smith were in attendance upon him, but their efforts to save his life were futile.

Mr. Root was born in Chili, New York, January 17, 1841, and came to California after the Civil War, through which he served. He owned large ranches in Merced and Stanislaus counties. In the early seventies he left California for a time and was engaged in extensive cattle raising in Oregon. He then returned to California, where his ranching interests grew and he amassed a comfortable fortune. In 1877 he was married to Miss Mary J. Wilson of Salida, near Modesto, where he resided until five years ago, when he came with his family to Oakland.

Deceased is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. S. W. R. Langdon, wife of Dr. Langdon of Stockton; Miss Anabel and Miss Ora Root, and a brother, H. E. Root of Santa Rosa.

The funeral will be held from the family residence this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

TEARS SHED IN COURT SAVES GIRL FROM JAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—Opal Blodgett, a comely damsel of 19 summers appeared before Police Judge Shortall, charged with the embezzlement of a diamond ring valued at $125. Leo Oberdeener, a cigar dealer, residing at 2202 Jackson street, is the complaining witness and testified that he met Miss Blodgett in Seattle and continued his acquaintance with her in this city. He said he loaned her a ring to wear at different times, but she recently pawned the jewel for $65.

Opal was in a tearfully repentant mood and surrendered the pawn ticket to Oberdeener in open court. Affected somewhat by her tears, Oberdeener said he would not press prosecution and the Judge intimated he would dismiss the case against her.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The most notable changes in the opening prices of stocks were in the minor issues, with gains predominating. Erie first preferred advanced 1⅛, Wisconsin Central 1½, New York Central, Kansas City Southern preferred, American Smelting and National Biscuit 1. Erie declined a point.

The demand for stocks did not last long and prices declined, the reaction from the highest reaching about a point in New York Central and American Smelting.

Wabash preferred was forced down 1¼ and Toledo, St. Louis & Western 1. An upward swing carried St. Paul, Illinois Central and Union Pacific a point over last night. Wisconsin Central preferred got up 2.

The market was narrower and professional. Bonds were irregular.

The prolonged dullness in the market was relieved by a good demand for the Harriman stocks and several other leaders, which lifted prices sharply. Union Pacific's rise reached 1⅝ and Southern Pacific 1. The advance became slower and the market became extremely dull.

The market closed dull an dirregular with prices on an uptarn.

FRUITVALE, Jan. 14.—St. Joseph's Young Men's Sodality of St. Elizabeth's Church is to hold an installation of officers in their new club rooms at 8:15 this evening.

The rooms have been gaily decorated and are fitted up with pool tables, shuffle boards, a library and several card tables. This will be the opening evening in the new quarters.

Those who will take part are the Misses Rose Bold, Minnie Behmer, Annie Rist, Frances Asegueda and Miss Elvina Keller.

ASKS INJUNCTION BE DISSOLVED

W. E. Meek Demurs to Complaint Restraining Him From Constructing Dam.

HAYWARD, Jan. 14.—W. E. Meek, orchardist and capitalist of Hayward, has filed notice of intention to move for the dissolution of an injunction secured against him by the Town of Hayward, restraining him from constructing a dam across a creek on his own property. Meek has demurred to a complaint on technical grounds. Arguments will be heard on January 15.

The injunction was granted on the ground that Meek had prevented the escape of storm water, which threatened to flood Castro street. The dam was torn down by Town Marshal Schilling and Meek was prevented from rebuilding it. At the same time a suit for a permanent injunction and $1000 damages was filed.

BRING SUIT TO AMEND DEED TO INVERNESS LAND

SAN RAFAEL, Jan. 14.—The Inverness Land and Water Company has filed a suit in the Superior Court against Julia Shafter Hamilton of Pt. Reyes, to compel the defendant to amend a deed to land near and including the town of Inverness, Marin county. In March, 1906, the plaintiff purchased from the defendant 750 acres of her estate for $200,000. Of this amount $60,000 was paid in cash and the balance was secured by stock in the company and a trust deed on the land.

The plaintiff now contends at this late date it is alleged that in the original deed plaintiff failed to include certain tide lands that lie to the north of the property of Tomales Bay.

The Inverness Land Company was incorporated for the purpose of subdividing the tract in question and placing it on the market. Nearly all the stockholders are San Francisco real estate and business men.

REBEKAHS ABANDON PUBLIC SESSION PLAN

FRUITVALE, Jan. 14.—The Golden Link Lodge of Rebekahs, No. 105, will hold its installation of officers on the evening of January 30 in the Masonic Hall. On Saturday night of this week the lodge will visit Concordia Lodge of Oakland in a body.

The following officers are to be installed January 30: Noble Grand, Minnie Fink; Vice Noble Grand, Katrina McClellan; Past Noble Grand, Alice Hoober; Recording Secretary, Alice Wrenn; Financial Secretary, Alice Borland; Treasurer, J. Eleanor Kenning; Trustee, Nellie Hartman.

FAILS TO PURCHASE LOT, BUT TAKES UMBRELLA

FRUITVALE, Jan. 14.—Notwithstanding the alleged quietness prevailing in realty circles here on account of the inclemency of the weather, the following story, told by A. Reese of the Golden Rule Realty Company, tends to show that beneath all this mud there is something moving:

"Yesterday morning I settled down in my easy chair before the fire in my office, thinking that I might take a rest while it rained outside. About 10 o'clock a woman dressed in a light suit, low shoes without rubbers and a picture hat entered my office and inquired about lots. As she did not carry an umbrella I warned her that my carriage was laid up for repairs and that Fruitvale Heights was a long walk and the way was rough on account of the mud.

"Strange to say, this did not alarm the woman one bit. 'I'm exceedingly anxious to buy a lot,' she said 'and I don't mind the walk at all.'

"Visions of gold flitted through my head and I told her to wait while I bought an umbrella. Well, to make a long story shorter, we traveled through mud ankle deep until we got to the place where the lots were. Here she looked them over carefully. During all this time it rained and I was wet to the skin, as the woman had the umbrella. Her feet, too, must have been wet, for she had splashed through several mud puddles, but she did not seem to mind it a bit.

"Finally she picked out one she liked and said: 'I'm so sorry to have brought you out in all this wet, but I'll have to write to mamma in New York first before we decide to buy a lot. Good-by,' and she walked off with my umbrella, while I repeated to myself the words: 'Well, business is certainly picking up.'"

CONSTABLE ENTERTAINS ATHLETES ON HIS FARM

FRUITVALE, Jan. 14.—Tom Carroll, the Fruitvale constable, was the host at a gathering of prominent athletes Sunday at his ranch here. Alfred Plaw, the hammer thrower; Robert Edgren, sporting editor of the New York World, and an athlete; Len Edgren, sporting editor of the New York Journal; and William McGrath, the hammer thrower of New York, were all there.

Just for old time's sake, a field day was arranged among the famous athletes, who all of them hold or have held world's records. No measurements were taken, but it is said that some records were probably broken during the meet. Tom Carroll, who stands 6 feet 6 inches in height and weighs 240 pounds, with not a spare ounce of superfluous avoirdupoise upon his immense frame, took part with flashes of his old-time form in the weight throwing contests, and amused the other athletes and his friends by his prowess. And Tom Carroll Jr., who, although only 19 years of age, is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 190 pounds, was there, too. He has the making of a great athlete.

After the field meet the athletes were the guests of Carroll at a banquet, at which many speeches of the old days were the order of the evening. The Edgrens have been the guests of Carroll at his Fruitvale avenue home for the past week or so, and have enjoyed the relaxation from their arduous duties in the East to the fullest extent.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM GREETS CONTEST ANNOUNCEMENT

Many Candidates Are Nominated by Their Interested Friends

Never before in the history of a contest has the first announcement created such a furore and brought in such a heavy response as did yesterday's statement in THE TRIBUNE, in which the big voting contest, before hinted at, was fully outlined.

Praise for Tribune

THE TRIBUNE has always counted its friends by hundreds, but henceforth it will number them by thousands because on every hand one hears it said: "Did you ever see anything to equal the prizes THE TRIBUNE is giving away in this year's great popularity contest?" And remembering the last similar contest held by THE TRIBUNE over a year ago when the hearty thanks of the winners of the beautiful prizes proved beyond a doubt that everything was carried out as announced, the answer is invariably given, "Well, THE TRIBUNE is certainly square and it does more for its subscribers and its advertisers than any other paper on the coast."

$10,000 in Prizes

As announced yesterday THE TRIBUNE will give away ten thousand dollars in prizes to be awarded to the winners of this big voting contest opening tomorrow, January 15. The attractive feature of the whole thing lies in the fact that everyone is eligible and that there are suitable gifts for all regardless of age, residence [illegible]. It takes a little work as so many are entered that the competition will be keen, but isn't it worth a little work to earn a $1600 Buick touring car or a $[illegible]00 piano or a beautiful building lot?

Last Year's Winners

In last year's contest, when a $1500 Rambler automobile was the grand prize, there was a close race for it as it was to go to the prize winner who had the largest number of votes. James T. Feeley, the popular assemblyman who is now attending the State Legislature in Sacramento, won the automobile, being voted the most popular man.

Won Automobile

The enjoyment Mr. Feeley and his friends have experienced in the touring car since it was delivered to him at the close of the contest is ample proof that it is worth while to do one's utmost to win this year's prizes, which are even more valuable than those offered a year ago.

Won Fine Piano

Miss Berdie Tibbetts, who was a prominent contestant last year and who gave Mr. Feeley a hard run for the automobile, [illegible] which she was delighted. Miss Tibbetts is with S. S. Austin & Co. [illegible] agents in East Oakland and will [illegible] any young lady of the [illegible] of THE TRIBUNE.

Amy Day Enters Contest

Miss M. Babb, with H. C. Capwell Co., whose attractive personality is so familiar to THE TRIBUNE readers through the Amy Day pictures for which she posed, was one of the first candidates to be entered in the contest for the Lindeman cabinet grand piano which is to be awarded to the most popular young lady in Oakland. Although she was never in any way connected with THE TRIBUNE, Miss Babb [illegible] to her host of friends through her daily appearance in its pages while on her famous Christmas shopping tour. The secret of Amy Day's identity would probably never have been revealed had it not been that votes for her began to pour into the office. While it is imperative that Miss Babb be entered under her own name, those of our readers who wish to preserve the impression of the charming personality as it appeared in the paper may continue to send their votes for Amy Day.

MISS BABB, Who, as Amy Day, Won Many Friends in Oakland She Will Be a Prominent Contestant for the Prize to Be Given the Most Popular Young Lady in Oakland

MISS BERDIE TIBBETS, A Prominent Contestant in THE TRIBUNE'S Last Contest, When She Won a Handsome Piano.

MR. JAMES T. FIELEY, Who Won a $1500 Rambler Touring Car in the Popularity Contest Given by THE TRIBUNE Last Year.

Conditions of Contest

The contest is absolutely free to all men, women or children excepting only employes of THE TRIBUNE and their families. A nomination coupon filled out with the name of your candidate and mailed to the Contest Department of THE TRIBUNE will start him or her with 100 votes.

If you are lucky enough to pick a winner, in other words if your candidate wins a prize, you will yourself win a cash nomination prize in recognition of your good judgment. A blank vote will be printed in each issue of THE TRIBUNE which when filled in with the name of the candidate will count as one vote if deposited within one week of its issue. The main reliance of the candidates however must rest upon the new subscriptions they secure. If you are not already a subscriber signify your intention of becoming one to your favorite candidate and influence your friends in the same direction.

The schedule on subscriptions is as follows:

Three months—$1.95	10[illegible] extra votes
Six months—$3.90	[illegible]0 extra votes

Classified Ads Help

100 votes for	$1.00
160 votes for	1.50
[illegible] votes for	2.00

The field of endeavor in this big contest is unlimited. The only thing necessary is enthusiasm.

Last Two Days for

FREE PANTS

Friday, January 15, to Saturday, January 16, 10 P. M.

When we will close the great sale which was very successful. We would have closed the sale last week, as we only intended to give away the free pants for a couple of days to give everybody a chance to get a suit and examine our new shop which is right on our premises in the store, but the demand was so large from all sides, and letters were pouring in from those in the country who could not get in on account of the weather, that we decided to give them a special chance, that they should be able to get a suit made to order and an extra pair of pants free until Saturday evening at 10 p. m.

Remember these suits are made right on the premises. What we say we do, as you can prove it, as the shop is open for inspection to all.

Every garment bears the Union Label and we are the only ones authorized to use the Union Label

The meaning of a Union Label is a great deal, but a good many do not realize it. The meaning of a Union label is, that a garment is made by skilled white labor under sanitary conditions, according to the law, and it is made in a shop that everybody can inspect, and you know that you are wearing a garment that is not made somewhere that you would not care to wear your suit if you could see where it was made. And we do not charge you any extra for making your suit in our shop, contrary we guarantee to save you from $5.00 to $10.00 on a suit, and now as a special inducement we give a $5.00 pair of pants free.

A few uncalled for suits at any price, as we do not want to keep them on hand any longer

The chief domestic problem of today is cooks, cooking and cook stoves. And while in a few instances poorly cooked food is the fault of an inexperienced cook, the greater trouble comes from the stove itself. Our success with is due to its faultless construction, its excellent baking qualities, and its economical demand on the coal bin. You should have listened to Mrs. Le Mert when she told us how she baked a 35-lb. turkey in her Breuner Faultless Malleable Range for her Christmas dinner; she told it so enthusiastically that we could fairly taste the bird in our mouth. A poor stove spoils a good cook, but a good cook and a good stove means a good meal,—and a happy disposition.
